Some Trips Postponed.
Earth's Greatest.

Taking It Seriously.

ANOTHER 4,000,000 share day. The little ticker moves rapidly, mysterious letters telling which stocks go up or down, have been ingeniously abbreviated. But the ticker can't keep up with speculators. It runs 30 minutes behind them. If the boom grows it may run hours behind.

THE Wall Street workers are tired, exhausted, but generous bonuses, promises of trips to Europe next summer, cheer the employes.

Some of the CUSTOMERS that plan trips to Europe this summer, won't make those trips. That's another chapter.

THE Chase and National City, New York's two biggest banks, deny that they are collecting banks on the East Coast to compete with and checkmate the bank collecting of Giannini, the California whirlwind.

There is little doubt, however, that Giannini's simple plan of applying to banks the principle of the United and Schulte Cigar stores, big business, one overhead, will spread and change the country's entire banking situation.

FRANCE expects a clash between the Vatican and Mussolini's Fascist government.

The Fascists announced a friendly arrangement with the Vatican, giving back to the Pope some of the property taken from him in the days of Garibaldi.

The Vatican says, "No Fascist co-operates with an established government that represents spoilation of the Pope."

YESTERDAY'S news from Rome represents Mussolini as replying to the Pope's recent criticism of Fascist education of Italian youth with a threat to legislate in restraint of Catholic education and training of boys, particularly the Catholic Boy Scouts.

There is possibility of trouble there.

LORD ROTHERMERE says Mussolini is earth's greatest man, "the greatest figure of our age" and "the Fascist regime is unshakeable."

Mussolini says, "I need peace," and he means it. But unless he has peace with the Vatican, which controls millions of consciences in Italy, he cannot be sure of peace or that his "regime is unshakeable."

GREAT BRITAIN has 1,066,000 out of a job. Our Secretary of Labor, who makes things as cheerful as possible, says we have more than 1,800,000 idle.

Senator Wagner, speaking for the Democratic party, says that there are more than 4,000,000 idle.

UNEMPLOYMENT, whatever the correct figure, disgraces this country. Hundreds of millions are piling up in the treasury, hundreds of millions' worth of work ought to be done. There is no excuse for the idleness.

DEMOCRATS, on the other hand, do not help themselves or hurt Republican prospects when they exaggerate unemployment and the threat of hard times.

Too much of that talk will cause the Democratic party to be associated in the public mind with disaster. Cassandra and Jeremiah, even when they told the truth, were not popular. Nobody would have voted to elect them President and Vice-President.

THERE is such a thing as taking your Eighteenth Amendment too seriously. Treasury officials threaten to make both 1928 conventions dry.

It is all very well to keep gin from colored labor in the South, and beer from white labor in the North. But when you talk of keeping beer and whisky from politicians solemnly selecting a president to enforce Constitution and law, the thing ceases to be a joke.

WHAT Paul Cooper wrote about the last noble red men will soon be written of the last wild horses. Not long afterward, thanks to the motor truck, will come the last of the tame horses.

In the state of Washington a thousand wild horses yesterday were being driven toward Yakima, their hides to be sold, their flesh fed to fox farms, or fed to dogs and chickens. The carcasses are worth $3 each.

A BIG candy factory is closed in New York City, called "a menace to health" by Commissioner Harris.

Buy pure candies from shops and manufacturers with established reputations. All sorts of trash is fed to children. A certain clay mixed and flavored and a little interior chocolate is sold for pure chocolate. That crime should mean 20 years in jail.

JAPAN beat China easily in war. But China understands one kind of war, boycott, hard to beat. A Chinese commercial boycott worries the astute Japanese. They find it hard to fight against quiet resistance.

PULLMAN car porters talk of a strike, abolishing tips, demanding higher wages. They have everybody's good wishes, for they are patient and faithful. But the tip system preserves their monopoly. The white unions would pay little attention to their colored union, would not strike to uphold their demands. Without tips their service would lack its present cheerfulness.

MARJORY SNODGRASS

One of these three Carnegie Institute of Technology girls will be "Campus Queen, 1928." They have been chosen from 15 nominees by more than 1,000 student ballots. Each has a large following and the lobbying and manipulation for the final election, April 11, is spirited. The queen will be crowned May 3 as a feature of the annual Campus Week celebration. Miss Jean Roy, 365 South Pacific avenue, Pittsburgh, and Miss Marjory Snodgrass, 97 Sprague street, Bellevue, have large local followings, but Miss Mary Elizabeth McFadden, Middleport, N. Y., will poll a heavy out-of-town vote. The local girls are students of the Margaret Morrison College, while Miss McFadden is in the department of drama, college of fine arts.

STINSON STILL UP AFTER 31 HOURS

THE Peach
WALL STREET CLOSE

2½ DAYS IN AIR, FLIERS' AIM

International News Service

JACKSONVILLE BEACH, Fla., March 29.—Thirty-one hours in the air, Eddie Stinson and George Haldeman were still aloft at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon in their huge monoplane and apparently [illegible] world's [illegible] record. They took off at 7:37 a. m. yesterday.

All through the night the drone of their motor kept watchers on the beach awake. Perfect weather prevailed and the forecast was favorable for today.

The airmen were flying at an altitude of about 2,000 feet this morning and making about 75 miles an hour.

The two pilots have "spelled" each other at the controls of the big Stinson-Detroiter plane, driving it through perfect weather in their effort to shatter the record now held in Germany, 52 hours and 23 minutes. This must be exceeded by at least an hour to be officially supplanted.

Stinson and Haldeman have given no indications when they will land. However, in order to beat the present record they will have to remain in the air until shortly after noon Friday. They told friends they would like to establish a new record of 55 hours, which means they would have to stay aloft until 2:35 p. m. Friday.

Pilots and mechanics who went up yesterday to fly alongside the Stinson plane and observe its behavior stated that it seemed in perfect fettle, that the motor was humming smoothly and that no difficulties were apparent. Notes dropped by the pilots confirmed these observations.

The aviators dropped a message this morning stating that the Stinson-Detroiter was using less fuel than they had anticipated and they were confident of breaking the record.

WALKILL, N. Y., March 29. — Harry McHugh, local postmaster, sought for the murder of a 19-year-old telephone operator, cheated his captors with his own gun today and mortally wounded himself when cornered in a lumber yard.

McHugh was taken to his home here, where his death was momentarily expected.

He fled from town Tuesday after Marie Terwilliger was shot down and killed in the doorway of the telephone exchange. McHugh's younger brother, Jesse, was to marry the girl, with whom Harry had been in love.

BROKERS BLAMED FOR COAL PRICE SLUMP

By MAX HENRICI,
Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, March 29. — Nemesis, officers of the United Mine Workers said today, after hearing Receiver W. H. Conaway describe the desperate situation of the Brady-Warner Coal Corporation of Northern West Virginia to the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, has overtaken the bankrupt concern.

The company, one of the largest in the Fairmont region, with mines in Clay, Mineral and Monongalia counties, was among the first to break the wage agreement made with the United Mine Workers in 1924 and evict the union miners from their homes.

Now, Receiver Conaway, a Fairmont attorney, told the committee, it is unable to sell any of its coal at a profit, has not paid a cent to its creditors since it went into bankruptcy, and has no expectation of being able to pay its debts. The receivership, Conaway predicted, will not last long.

"Brokers Stand In"

The company's principal customers, the railroads, will not buy directly from it, he testified, but compel it to sell its coal through brokers. He said he suspected the brokers "stood in" with the railroads purchasing agents. It costs the Brady-Warner Corporation, Conaway stated, about $1.38 a ton to mine coal, and it has been unable of late to get a better price than $1.30. He declared that this was the general condition in the coal industry in Northern West Virginia.

In further illustration of the wretched plight of the industry testimony was given today at No. 1 mine of the Monongah Fuel Company, leased to A. L. Peters, the miners are paid only $1.25 a day and their board. D. W. Boone, an operator in the New River district, testified that he paid some of his men as little as $2.68 for a 10-hour day.

In answer to a question of Senator James E. Watson, of Indiana, Conaway

TRACES 'LEAK' IN OIL

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, March 29. —Reopening his single-handed campaign to pin some responsibility for the oil scandals on the Democrats, Senator Arthur R. Robinson (Rep.), of Indiana, today charged a "vicious circle" began leasing the government's huge oil reserves to private oil companies during the Wilson administration.

Robinson said the Wilson administration was responsible for the leasing law under which Edwin L. Doheny got the Elk Hill reserve and Harry F. Sinclair the Teapot Dome reserve. In addition, he charged, the Democratic administration made hundreds of leases to private oil companies in the same public domains long before the Republicans came into power in 1920.

Robinson particularly assailed the employment of former Democratic cabinet officers by Doheny, asserting that Doheny paid the Democrats at the rate of $365,000 a year.

WALSH REPLIES

In an immediate reply, Senator Thomas J. Walsh (D) of Montana, challenged many of Robinson's statements. He declared the Indiana senator had made "perfectly reckless, indefensible statements." For some of these statements, Walsh said, Robinson could be excused "but for others there is no excuse whatever."

Walsh denied that there was any breach of trust by any Democratic Government official and said that

SLAPPED IN SCHENLEY; ASKS FOR DIVORCE

His wife slapped his face in the Hotel Schenley ballroom during the Southern Club's ball, Dr. Harry F. Koontz, 52, dentist, residing at the Pittsburgh Athletic Association, testified in his divorce suit today before Judge H. H. Rowand. Cruel and barbarous treatment is the ground on which Dr. Koontz seeks divorce from Martha L. Koontz, 2004 Blakemore avenue, to whom he was married in Nashville, Tenn., February 11, 1922. They separated in 1926.

In the summer of '123 while on a fishing trip into Canada, Dr. Koontz testified, his wife accused him of being too friendly with the daughter of a hotel proprietor. The girl and her brother had accompanied the dentist to a distant lake and Mrs. Koontz was not with them. He denied the charge.

The episode in the Schenley ballroom, Dr. Koontz testified, occurred after Mrs. Koontz had accused him of flirting with a Texas girl, which the doctor denied.

GERMANS MAY TRY FRIDAY

International News Service.

DUBLIN, March 29.—The departure of the German monoplane Bremen upon a trans-Atlantic flight was postponed indefinitely today, owing to continued bad weather.

Capt. Herman Koehl, the pilot, and Baron von Huenefeld, financial backer of the enterprise, said they hoped to get away tomorrow morning, but would not hop off until weather conditions over the ocean were safe. So far there has been no suggestion that the flight would be abandoned.

During the morning a stiff west wind was blowing, and fog made visibility very poor. The weather forecaster held out no hope that conditions would become favorable during the day.

"We are determined to fly—sometime," said Baron von Huenefeld.

Unless reports from Newfoundland indicate rising temperatures there, it appeared likely today that when the fliers start they will take the southern shipping lane course direct to New York and thus avoid the Canadian coast entirely.

Capt. Koehl has been impressed deeply by Col. Lindbergh's streassing of sleet dangers in his book "We." If he goes south of the "Great Circle" he will have been the first trans-Atlantic flier to do so.

Everything was in readiness for the hop-off at 5 o'clock, the time set for the start today, and the fliers were loath to announce another postponement.

The plane had been trundled from its hanger a few hours before dawn and placed on the long wooden runway, specially built for the take-off. Mechanics had given the machine a final grooming and covered all parts with paraffin to keep the formation of sleet during the flight down to a minimum.

It had rained during the night, however, and when Koehl, Baron von Huenefeld and Relief Pilot Arthur Spindler came on the field, they found the ground in an extremely soggy condition.

U. S. ATTORNEYS TAKE FALL'S "CONFESSION"

EL PASO, Tex., March 29.—(AP.)—In conformity with his offer to tell all he knows about the leasing of the Wyoming naval oil reserve, Albert B. Fall today opened his home here to attorneys of defense and government counsel in the Teapot Dome conspiracy case.

Pronounced by physicians as too ill to travel, the former Secretary of the Interior made known his willingness to spend several days if necessary to complete a deposition for use when Harry F. Sinclair, his co-defendant on charges of criminal conspiracy, is arraigned separately at Washington.

Daniel Thew Wright, of Washington, and Reginald W. Ragland, of counsel for Sinclair, announced on their arrival here that use of the deposition will be governed entirely by developments at the Sinclair trial. They explained that, should the defense deem reading of the deposition unnecessary, the contents would not be made public.

Atlee Pomerene, former United States Senator from Ohio, who will represent the government here, announced that regular court procedure would be followed. After defense attorneys question Fall, Senator Pomerene will conduct the cross-examination.

Testimony will be taken by W. B. Bull, court reporter of the Forty-first Federal District Court, here.

Though Fall has declined to comment on the specific details of the testimony he has offered to give, he has steadfastly contended that the leases were executed for the best interest of the government.

"I believe the Teapot Dome leases were made for the protection of the government and unless the territory was drilled, the government reserve oil would seep off into adjacent territory which was being drilled by private concerns," Fall said in defense of the leases obtained by Sinclair.

KILLS HERSELF WITH KNIFE

GREENSBURG, Pa., March 29.—Slashing her jugular vein with a small paring knife, Miss Edna B. Hixon, 46, of Ruffsdale, ended her life today in the basement of her home. Her body was found, with the knife beside it, by her sister Ella. The coroner could learn no reason for the suicide, he said.

William D. Herron, 41, brother-in-law, has confessed to her murder, following an argument resulting from an attempted attack. This new turn in the case may save the confessed slayer from the electric chair.

WILSON CABINET OIL LEAK, CHARGE

for this reason, Robinson's charges were meaningless.

"The senator does not dare charge there was any violation of the criminal law," said Walsh. "He dare not assert that any of the Democratic gentlemen he named in any manner whatever, while in the service of the government gave the slightest favor to either Edwin L. Doheny or Harry F. Sinclair."

Robinson declared that former Secretary of the Navy Daniels had authorized the drilling of 55 wells by private companies on the government reserves prior to 1920, and that former Secretary of the Interior John Barton Payne had granted 150 leases to private companies for a total of 14,000 acres of land "immediately adjacent to Teapot Dome." He said Payne had leased 5,000 acres beside Teapot Dome to John T. Barnett, Democratic national committeeman from Denver.

"So we have this situation: One Democratic cabinet officer is leasing land within the naval reserves to be exploited by private corporations upon the ground that it is a defensive measure against the drainage of naval oil by private wells just outside the reserve," said Robinson. "Another Democratic cabinet officer at the same time is leasing 14,000 acres of oil land immediately outside the naval reserve to private corporations, thereby draining the navy's oil.

"Thus the record shows that the conspiracy of private oil interests to grab the oil within the naval reserves of the nation was entered into and consummated long before the Republican national convention of 1920—entered into and consummated with the active aid and assistance of Democratic cabinet officers and Democratic leaders in both branches of Congress."

50,000,000 BARRELS

The Payne leases to private oil companies on the edge of the Teapot Dome tract, Robinson charged, drained that field of 50,000,000 barrels of oil.

"Fifty million barrels of oil is a pretty liberal honorarium for the Democratic secretary of interior to hand out to a Democratic committeeman and others at the head of private oil interests," said Robinson.

The records of the Wilson administration show, said Robinson, that Doheny and other oil interests employed Franklin K. Lane, once secretary of the interior; Joseph J. Cotter, Lane's private secretary; Herbert A. Meyer, assistant to Lane, and Clay Tallman, commissioner of the land office under Lane. He also repeated his former charges that Doheny employed William Gibbs McAdoo at a salary of $250,000, former Secretary of War Lindley M. Garrison and former Attorney General Gregory, all Wilson cabinet members, and George Creel, "the Wilson publicity agent."

Skies Rain Plea to Strike

Circulars calling upon non-union miners to lay down their tools and join the strikers have been showered over the open-shop mines of Westmoreland county by a mystery airplane, according to reports reaching Pittsburgh.

Neither the United Mine Workers of America, the Pennsylvania and Ohio Miners' Relief or the Save-the-Union committee will admit they know who is responsible for the maneuver, which is said to have been responsible for a number of strike-breakers quitting their jobs.

The circular is unsigned.

The circular, issued at Pittsburgh under date of March 26, calls upon nonunion miners, "in defense of their constitutional rights as free men," to join the United Mine Workers of America. W. G. Warden, chairman of the board of directors of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, is charged with asserting that he wanted to be "absolute dictator of the wages, working and living conditions of all men employed by the Pittsburgh Coal Company."

"Now is your greatest chance in life," the circular states. "Join the union, stand for its principles and cease work April 1, 1928."

"Two temperaments such as ours can't travel in double harness," she declared. "You can't have a husband and a career or a wife and a career." Lewis, she says, played the role of "heavy" not only on the stage, but at home, too. He was interested in Shakespeare, she in mysticism.

FAR-REACHING PENNSYLVANIA QUIZ SEEN

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS,
Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Investigation of Pennsylvania campaign expenditures and methods by various senate committees promised today to be extended far beyond the customary congressional recess for the national conventions.

This became evident from these latest developments:

1. Summoning of Joseph R. Grundy, president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association, and a representative of the "protective tariff interests;" of E. T. Stotesbury, Philadelphia financier and a representative of the Morgan interests, and other prominent Pennsylvanians, by the Senate Teapot Dome committee now engaged in inquiring into the source of Continental Trading Company Liberty bonds and other phases of Republican party national financing.

2. Impounding by Senator Jim Reed's committee of Allegheny county records in an effort to discover why ballots printed in different type were discovered when the ballot boxes used in the Vare-Wilson senatorial election in November, 1926, were opened by a subcommittee of the Senate privileges and elections committee.

3. Accumulation by both sides to the Vare-Wilson contest of evidence of serious discrepancies in the records of the voting in both Philadelphia and Allegheny counties in the Vare-Wilson senatorial election in November, 1926, which will necessitate a review of protested boxes, ballots, voters' check lists, registration lists, etc., by Senator Jim Reed's committee, the Senate privileges and elections committee, and the Senate itself.

4. Indications that Pennsylvania as a Republican "organization" stronghold will be made a target by the Democrats as well as by Republican insurgents headed by the Philadelphia committee of 70 and by former Gov. Gifford Pinchot and his adherents as a principal source of Republican party "national corruption."

ANCIENT JEWISH CUSTOM

When Moses led the Children of Israel out of bondage into the wilderness they subsisted on unleavened bread, made from wheat growing wild in the desert. Now once each year for seven days their descendants eat only bread made similarly, as a reminder that once they were an oppressed people. The season begins with Passover at sundown next Wednesday.

RABBIS SUPERINTEND BAKING

The bread is made from wheat and rabbis stand guard over it from the time it enters the mill until it is ready for distribution to see that it is not washed nor adulterated. In the first photograph the baker is mixing the flour with water. Above the mixture is being rolled into long, thin slabs.

CRISP TOASTED SQUARES

The slabs of dough are flattened by rollers and cut into eight-inch squares. Rollers take the squares through an oven, the operation requiring 14 seconds. Terrific heat, measured to a single degree, sends the Matzos out at the other end toasted to a uniformity that makes the contents of a two-and-one-half pound box appear to have been cooked in one piece.

SENT TO ALL THE WORLD

The Caplan Bakery, 77 Logan street, annually supplies the Jewish race in all parts of the world with Matzos. Almost 1,000,000 pounds are sent from Pittsburgh each year. When the baking season, about three months long, is finished, the Matzos ovens are closed until the next season.

LAME NAG STIRS SOCIETY RUMPUS

AIKEN, S. C., March 29.—(AP.)—A lame horse involved in a "society horse trade" has divided the colony into opposing camps. The case will be aired in the courts tomorrow.

Mrs. Robert Rutherford McCormick, wife of Col. McCormick, editor of the Chicago Tribune, bought the horse, Bacchus II, from S. A. Warner Baltazzi, president of the Wheatley Hills Bank of Westbury, L. I., for $2,500. Capt. Demetri Ivanenko took the horse for a drag hunt the next day and on his return reported that the animal was lame in the right hind foot. Mrs. McCormick sent the horse back to Baltazzi who refused to accept it, declaring that it had been pronounced sound at the time of the trade, March 4, and had been hurt on the hunt.

Mrs. McCormick then stopped payment on her check and Baltazzi attached all her horses. The case will be tried tomorrow before Judge S. W. E. Shipp, of Florence, who will come here for that purpose.

Westbury and Chicago social circles have taken sides openly. Everybody plans to attend the trial. Mrs. McCormick, meanwhile, has made bond for the release of her horses.

Killed at Pit Dice Game

Craps shooting culminated in a murder at Montour Mine No. 4 of the Pittsburgh Coal Company at Hill Station last night, it is believed, with the shooting of James Allen, 32, a non-union coal miner, in a company-owned house. The shooting took place in the home of Barney Brown, 26, another strike breaker, who eluded coal and iron police and is believed to have fled to Pittsburgh.

Washington county authorities and Sergt. William Jones, of the state police, were notified of the shooting and Chief County Detective William B. Dinsmore ordered the arrest of two men as material witnesses. They are Horace Anderson, 24, and Arthur Wright, 54, both employes of the Pittsburgh Coal Company. Brown's alleged common-law-wife, a girl of 17, was in bed at the time of the slaying, but said she heard no shooting.

Sherbondy, and carried away a large metal box used as a safe. The robbery occurred early Wednesday morning, but telephone communication was not restored until noon today.

News of the robbery was brought in by a rural mail carrier. Sherbondy was unable to estimate his loss. The box contained valuable papers in addition to a small sum of money.

Supt. H. C. Williams, of the Monessen plant of the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company, announced that full operation at that plant would start next Monday. The fabric department of the Pittsburgh Steel's Monessen plant will begin capacity operation April 1, and other mills at Donora and Allenport are expected to increase their schedule.

WORK BEGINS

Ordinary stone doesn't stand up well under the impact of 1,700 pounds of steel, as is demonstrated above. The steam shovel and the rock crusher were sent by contractors to attack the Diamond street side of the courthouse steps. Completion of the new front, to be built in Romanesque style, is expected in six months. At a cost of $112,323.

ADD ESCADRILLE ACES' MOTHERS TO PILGRIMAGE

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Gold star mothers, whose valiant sons were members of the famous Lafayette Escadrille and went to heroic deaths in thrilling airplane combats above the battle lines of France, have asked Congress to be included in the pilgrimage to the soldier cemeteries of Europe.

Through an oversight these mothers were not included in the bill, now before the Senate after having been passed unanimously in the House, which will make this pilgrimage possible under government expense and supervision.

Senator Simmons (Dem.), of North Carolina, brought the matter to the attention of Senator David A. Reed (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, chairman of the Senate Military Affairs Committee. It was indicated that the bill will be amended at once to include mothers of American youths who made the supreme sacrifice with the French air force.

The gold star mothers' bill at present designates only the mothers and unmarried widows of soldiers, sailors and marines interred in European cemeteries, who fought with the American forces. The pilgrimage would take effect July 1 or after.

CANDIDATES APPEAL SEDITION CONVICTIONS

AX KILLER SHOWN NO MERCY

SAN ANGELO, Tex., March 29.—(AP.)—Newton Byrnes, 24, who confessed he slew three members of a Pittsburgh (Pa.) family which employed him as chauffeur, was convicted of murder by a jury here yesterday and the penalty fixed at death.

Byrnes was tried for the killing of Myrna Juergens, 12, one of his victims. His attorneys asked for a short prison sentence for their client, contending the crime was not premeditated and was committed in a sudden passion. The jury deliberated 50 minutes.

Myrna Juergens, and her mother, Mrs. W. J. Juergens, and Mrs. Rose Schirra, mother of Mrs. Juergens, were slain with a hatchet in their home March 3. Byrnes said he killed them after a quarrel. He had been employed as chauffeur of the family for four years.

The date of sentencing was not set.

BODIES ARRIVED HERE

All three of the murder victims were former Pittsburghers. The killings took place while Wilbert Juergens, the husband and father of two of the victims, was out of town. Juergens formerly lived in Brookline, where he has a brother and father residing. He and his wife and daughter had visited Pittsburgh last summer, bringing Byrnes with them as their chauffeur.

Mrs. Rose R. Schirra, Mrs. Juergens' mother, lived at 4812 Sciota street. She left Pittsburgh last December to spend the winter with her daughter. Her husband is living at the Sciota street address. Mrs. Schirra has three other daughters living in Pittsburgh. The bodies of the three victims were brought back to Pittsburgh two weeks ago for burial.

Guilty

NEWTON BYRNES

Newton Byrnes, 24, confessed ax-killer of three members of a Pittsburgh family which employed him as chauffeur at San Angelo, Tex., has been found guilty of murder in that city and by a jury which fixed the penalty as death. The court has not yet pronounced sentence. Byrnes confessed to killing Myrna Juergens, 12; Mrs. W. J. Juergens, her mother, and Mrs. Rose Schirra, Mrs. Juergen's mother, of 4812 Sciota street.

BROKERS BLAMED FOR SLUMP IN COAL PRICES

way said that the company was operating nonunion, but had received no instructions from the court as to what the labor policy should be.

Conaway presented a great amount of statistical matter concerning the Brady-Warner Corporation.

The proceedings were delayed by objections of counsel on technical points.

Sold to Railroads

Conaway had records with which he was not familiar, and wanted to examine them before being required to answer questions pertaining to them.

He was asked if his company had sold coal to the railroads during the past year. He said it had mentioned the Lehigh Valley, Erie, Monongahela Railroad, New York Central, Michigan Central and Canadian Pacific as among the purchasers.

The sales were made through brokers. The variation between what the company received for its coal from the broker and what the broker received from the railroads ran, according to Conaway, from 8 to 20 cents.

He said that he had tried to sell directly to the railroads, but was informed that their requirements were supplied. The brokers, he said, had contracts with the railroads.

Conaway stated that the company had sold coal for as little as $1.30 a net ton, and had been asked to take less, but had refused, and would rather close its mines than take less.

The company, he stated, had sold some coal directly to the Monongahela Railroad at $1.60 a ton. The average cost to the company of producing coal he gave as $1.36 a ton.

Conaway testified that the company sold coal to a broker at $1.38, and the broker in turn sold it to the Lehigh Valley Railroad at $1.50.

The company lost money on all its coal, he declared.

"And since our effort to sell coal directly to the railroads, without the intervention of brokers," he continued, "the prices we have received, strange to say, have gone down."

He stated that it was less expensive to operate at a slight loss than to close down the mines altogether, because of the deterioration when operation ceased.

Blames Brokers

Senator Robert F. Wagner, of New York wanted to know why the railroads bought from brokers instead of from the Brady-Warner Corporation directly. Conaway answered that he did not know personally, but he suspected that the brokers "stood in" with the purchasing agents of the railroads.

"Is the selling of coal at a loss a general condition in Northern West Virginia?" inquired Senator Simeon D. Fess, of Ohio. Conaway answered that it was.

In response to questions, Conaway said the company of which he is receiver was paying its creditors nothing, and that he did not expect to pay them anything. He said he did not think the receivership would last very long.

Bittner Quizzed

After Conaway was excused, E. J. McVain, an attorney for the Fairmont Coal Operators' Association, questioned Van A. Bittner, the United Mine Workers' chief representative in northern West Virginia, concerning a statement that Bittner made last week about a company in that region that employed none but unmarried miners and paid them only $1.50 a day and board. Bittner said it was No. 1 mine of the Morongah Fuel Company, leased to A. L. Peters. Bittner added that he had since been informed that the men were paid only $1.25 a day and their board.

D. W. Boone, of Lookout, Fayette county, West Virginia, an operator in the New River district, was the next witness.

Boone was questioned about the wages paid at his mines in recent years, and read a long table showing a sharp decline. At present tipple men are being paid as little, according to his figures, as $2.68 for a 16-hour day, and common labor $2.98 a day.

Conaway was recalled to the stand in the afternoon to testify about wages paid by the Brady-Warner Coal Corporation. In answer to questions of Thomas C. Townsend, attorney for the United Mine Workers, Conaway said the company spent $55,977.34 in the employment of mine guards from 1922 until July 29, 1927 when the receivers took charge. Since then no mine guards or deputy sheriffs have been employed, Conaway stated.

Having ascertained that Henry Ford operates coal mines in West Virginia and Kentucky paying approximately the union scale, the committee has resolved to seek his aid in finding a remedy for the distress of the coal industry. Senator Watson, chairman of the committee, said the automobile manufacturer would be summoned in about 10 days, or after the witnesses already subpenaed have been heard.

There is a possibility that J. Pierpont Morgan may also be called, to tell of the United States Steel Corporation's policy in the operation of its coal mines.

POLICE BEATING WOMAN FREED

Mrs. Emma Allison, 42, housekeeper who, it is alleged, beat her employer, Patrolman Amos Dachroth, 65, with the aid of a poker and a son, was discharged in Morals Court today when she agreed to pay a $40 hospital bill Dachroth incurred in treatment for injuries. The son, Earl Allison, 22, also was freed.

The radio might be blamed for the fight which upset the Dachroth quarters on March 20. Dachroth was ill, he testified, and he asked Allison not to use the radio. The answer, Dachroth told the court, was the beating.

JACKSON NAMED TO SUCCEED OLIVER

The appointment of Earle R. Jackson as assistant district attorney, to be sworn into office tomorrow, was announced today by District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner. Jackson will succeed Alvin M. Oliver, resigned to become associated with Attorney Rody P. Marshall. Gardner said that he had reluctantly accepted Oliver's resignation and praised his retiring assistant as a most capable prosecuting attorney with a record of conspicuous achievement in the handling of many important cases since his appointment in July, 1924.

Jackson and Oliver have frequently met as opposing counsel in criminal trials and their rivalry will be continued from opposing sides of the counsel table. Jackson is an experienced prosecuting attorney, having served as an assistant during the administration of his father, R. H. Jackson, as district attorney from 1914 to 1918.

Jackson, 41 years old, lives at 238 South Negley avenue. He is a graduate of Washington and Jefferson College, class of 1907, and of the Pittsburgh Law School, class of 1910. Oliver, 38 years old, lives at 5549 Woodmont street. He is a graduate of Mercersburg Academy and of the Pittsburgh Law School. A month ago he was honored by a testimonial dinner attended by several hundred guests, including judges, federal and county prosecuting attorneys, many prominent members of the bar, and city and county officials.

You Need More Than a Smile
By Edna Wallace Hopper

It's pleasant to know that your glistening white teeth fascinate and allure. But we who make an earnest study of health and youth preservation demand more than cleanliness. The enamel and gums must be protected.

Edna Wallace Hopper as she looks today

To assure the greatest precaution against wearing away of precious enamel I have had to understand personally the effects of the various ingredients of the tooth paste I use, which is called Quindent, the "five-in-one" dentifrice.

I am convinced that it not only cleanses and polishes the teeth perfectly, but it purifies the breath and, above all, counteracts the ever-present acids. This last protection is due to one of its most valuable properties—milk of magnesia, which I used to use separately as a mouth wash before expert scientists had produced Quindent.

Quindent is not a biting, sharp dentifrice. Its action is sure and mild. The taste is pleasant and I advise you to leave a slight coating of it on the gums and tongue, which is effective for hours.

You can obtain Quindent at any toilet counter, 50 cents for a large tube.

PROTEST HIRING "OUTSIDER"

Selection of Miss Lenora Conklin, member of the staff of the New York State Training School for Girls, Hudson, N. Y., as superintendent of the Gumbert School for Girls, announced yesterday, has been disapproved by the county commissioners. However, their action probably will have no effect on the $3,000 appointment.

The commissioners acted as soon as they learned that Miss Conklin had been engaged by the Board of Managers of the school. As the school functions independently of the commissioners' office, the commissioners were unaware a superintendent had been engaged.

The commissioners have no authority in selecting employes at the school, explained their solicitor, W. Heber Dithrich. "All the commissioners can do is pay the salaries," he added. Nevertheless, a letter was sent the board of managers informing them of the commissioners' disapproval.

"I am strongly opposed to the county employing persons who live outside of the county or state," Commissioner C. C. McGovern said. "And that goes for me too," said Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong.

Commissioner E. V. Babcock also voiced his disapproval of engaging 'outsiders.'

BORKON FOR VOTE MACHINES

Another candidate for Legislature came out in favor of the use of voting machines. He is Louis Y. Borkon, one of five aspirants for the place in the Fifth district, consisting of the Twelfth, Thirteenth and Fourteenth wards. Other planks in Borkon's platform are: Creation of a Pittsburgh metropolitan district, development of river transportation, settlement of the coal strike, rapid transit for Pittsburgh and return of part of the motor vehicle license fees to the municipality from which they are collected.

CARRICK MAN SHOOTS SELF

James Catalano, 57, who lives with his wife and family on the second floor over their fruit store at 2204 Hazeldell street, Carrick, shot himself in the chest as he lay in bed today, city detectives reported.

Catalano, in serious condition in the South Side Hospital, told Motorcycle Patrolman William Siebert that his business and health had been poor.

EX-EMPLOYE SOUGHT IN TRIPLE MURDER

CLUE IN DEATHS OF 3 IN FIRE

NEWARK, N. Y., March 29.—(AP.)—A disgruntled former employe of Frank S. Warren, merchant, was sought by police today as the slayer of Warren, his wife, Edith, and their son, Jack, whose bodies were found in their fire-swept home.

Sheriff John L. Newman and District Attorney Wilfred T. Purchase refused to disclose the identity of the man sought, but they asked cooperation of police in Rochester and surrounding counties. The hunted man had financial difficulties some months ago with Warren and suddenly left town.

All three victims were shot with a .32-caliber revolver.

Bodies of Warren and his wife were charred too badly to make an autopsy effective, but the body of the boy, who slept in a room at a distance from his parents' bedroom, was untouched by the fire. In his bed was found the revolver broken and with three shells missing. The authorities were certain that the boy was not responsible for his parents' deaths.

PRINCE TUMBLES AGAIN, BUT MOUNTS, WINS RACE

FRENSHAM, SURREY, Eng., March 29.—(AP.)—Despite being thrown by a favorite hunter, Miss Muffet II, during the Highland Brigade steeplechase meeting at Stockington today, the Prince of Wales remounted and won the race.

HURT, SHE SUES HOTEL MAN FOR $25,000

Col. C. C. Butler, general manager of the William Penn and Fort Pitt hotels, has been sued by C. Helen Withum, former manager of the Fort Pitt cabaret and dance activities, for $25,000, it was revealed today.

Miss Withum charges two of her fingers were crushed in Col. Butler's auto in September, 1926, when a door closed on them as she was helping him remove several articles.

Suits for damages from another unusual mishap were filed by two other women.

Mrs. Rachael Loxterman of Aiken avenue and Margaret Pauline McVay of 2212 Howe street, allege that when their Pennsylvania Railroad train was near Federal Street Station a chunk of mud fell from a passing freight train and shattered a window. They were cut by glass. Each asks $25,000 damages.

Joseph Rossi of New York, a passenger on a train wrecked March 24, 1927, at Lewistown, wants $50,000 damages from the Pennsylvania.

DANDRUFF

A Sure Way to End It

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

MAGNESIA BEST FOR YOUR INDIGESTION

Warns Against Doping Stomach With Artificial Digestants

Most people who suffer, either occasionally or chronically from gas, sourness and indigestion, have now discontinued disagreeable diets, patent foods and the use of harmful drugs, stomach tonics, medicines and artificial digestants, and instead, following the advice so often given in these columns, take a teaspoonful or four tablets of Bisurated Magnesia in a little water after meals with the result that their stomach no longer troubles them, they are able to eat as they please and they enjoy much better health. Those who use Bisurated Magnesia never dread the approach of meal time because they know this wonderful anti-acid and food corrective, which can be obtained from May Drug Co., or any good drug store, will instantly neutralize the stomach acidity, sweeten the stomach, prevent food fermentation, and make digestion easy. Try this plan yourself but be certain to get Bisurated Magnesia especially prepared for stomach use.

AVOID DIZZY SPELLS

Never well. Always tired and fagged out. Beauty tossed away by neglect. To be beautiful and to keep youth the system must be free from poisonous backwash of constipation, which often causes dizzy spells. For 20 years, Dr. F. M. Edwards gave his patients, in place of calomel, a compound of vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. Known by their olive color. They free the system of poisons that ravage health, energy, beauty.

You need never have sallow complexion, dull eyes, coated tongue, throbbing headaches—all signs that your bowels are clogged, liver is torpid. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly. They act smoothly and without griping. How much better you'll feel and look! Everywhere wise men and women who know the value of good health take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. All druggists, 15c, 30c and 60c.

RETIRES

A. HAMBURGER, PRESIDENT

At the offices of the Hamburger Furniture Co., 927 Penn ave., Mr. Alex. Hamburger, president of the concern, announced that, at a meeting of the stockholders, it was decided to liquidate the business.

Mr. Hamburger, who is one of the pioneers in retail furniture circles in Pittsburgh, stated that his store was to discontinue business, because he felt it was time for him to retire from active work. He admitted that the negotiations, which had been mentioned in this newspaper recently, finally resulted in this decision to retire from the field.

The Hamburger furniture store, which occupies a large eight-floor building at 927 Penn ave., has long been regarded as a leading enterprise. The announcement that the company was to cease its activities occasioned great surprise in local mercantile circles. When asked when the business was to be closed, Mr. Hamburger stated that he was not ready to make that public. He said, however, that, as soon as all details were ready, the public would be informed of the future plans of the business

An Ensemble Idea

Which Has Both Originality and Smartness to Commend It

With black-and-white always smart, and navy-and-white coming into a new prominence this season, we suggest the following units for an unusually effective ensemble:

Coats

In Navy Blue or Black

Coats which in type, style, color, and trimming, are suited to wear with these dresses, are to be had in wide variety.

They are coats of the new, dull-surfaced cloths or of silk crepes—unfurred ones with scarf collars of self fabric or small, tailored collars; and coats with collars of white ermine, black goliak and caracul, gray squirrel, and natural fitch.

They range in price from $49.50 to $95.00.

Dresses

In National Highway Stripes

Dresses of national highway stripes are original with Horne's, in Pittsburgh, being introduced by our Tailor-Type dress section a few weeks ago. They offer distinction in smart, simple frocks at $25.00, which has been recognized by women looking for something a bit different.

They are in black-and-white and navy-and-white, with white or gray vestees, collars and cuffs; and some of them are banded with red or bright green. There is choice of five models.

. . . Horne's, Second Floor . . .

Fox Scarfs

Special

$50.00

In Fashionable Shades For Easter Costumes

The unfurred coat or ensemble demands a completing fur scarf, and here are new scarfs of the very fashionable fox, in shades to harmonize with almost any costume. In beige, brown, natural, red.

And such scarfs for $50.00! Made of full animal skins, not pieced as scarfs of moderate price frequently are—soft and pliable, fluffy and flattering.

Pointed Fox Scarfs Special—$75.00

These scarfs, of liberal size, full-furred, and in deep sitka dyed shade, with white tipped tails, are as effectively pointed as scarfs of much higher price. So smart with black or navy costumes.

. . . Horne's, Second Floor . . .

Elene Hats

Achieve Real Distinction at a Moderate Price—$15

Examples that the above is a statement of fact are the following:

The hat pictured, which is a copy of an Agnes model, inspired by the sun hats of India—of silver gray yedda straw, with a scarf of gray and green chiffon.

Copy of a Rose Valois model—a broad-brimmed hat of natural leghorn, piped with black cire satin.

An afternoon hat of transparent red hair braid, banded with simulated flowers in red, blue and yellow, embroidered on the hat.

Elene hats are confined exclusively to Horne's, in Pittsburgh.

. . . Horne's, Fourth Floor . . .

Dresses for Large Women At $25.00

Slenderizing models, in sizes 42½ to 52½, provide the large woman with a pleasing choice of dresses for afternoon and to accompany coats for street wear.

There are dresses of plain georgette, plain silk crepes, printed georgette, printed silks, and of prints veiled with georgette. In navy blue and light spring shades.

They include one and two-piece models, some in ensemble effect, with short coatees.

. . . Horne's, Second Floor . . .

Lessons in Making Lamp Shades

A new location has been given over to the making of lamp shades—a corner on the seventh floor, with plenty of daylight, in a pleasant, quiet location.

New Materials

There is a display of the new Rhodoid materials for making modern shades. A particularly good material for spring and summer, as it is easily kept clean. There are many new embroidered taffetas and georgettes from which to fashion charming and colorful shades. Also new trimmings, and wire frames in good selection.

. . . Horne's, Seventh Floor . . .

New and Distinctive Wall Papers

Wall paper is one of the first and most important furnishings of a room. It is the background that goes far in "making" a room. And new paper freshens a room remarkably.

The new imported and fine domestic papers are in, offering a wide selection of beautiful patterns. There are the rough plasters and two-tone papers favored by leading decorators. And there are dozens of charming chintz papers for bedrooms, and gay colorful ones for breakfast or sunrooms.

Priced $1.00 and $1.50 roll. Other papers, 25c roll up.

. . . Horne's, Sixth Floor . . .

OPERATORS TURN DOWN PACT

International News Service

CHICAGO, March 29.—Coal mines in Illinois will shut down Saturday at midnight for an indefinite time. Again thousands of union men will be forced out of work by the ruling of the Illinois coal operators, who met in session here and voted to refuse to continue operating mines under the terms of the Jacksonville pact.

All negotiations with the union miners have been called off. Rice Miller, retiring president of the operators, had no note of optimism as he clarified the situation.

"We simply cannot work the mines and make them pay by giving the miners the money they demand," he said. "Therefore we are shutting down."

The miners are seeking a renewal of the $8 a day scale. The operators are or rather were seeking to have them accept $6 a day.

PREPARE FOR STRIKE

WEST FRANKFORT, Ill., March 29.—(INS.)—Preparations were made today for a complete shutdown of coal production in the southern Illinois coal field, following the failure of operators and union officials to reach an agreement.

Expiration of the wage truce under which the mines have been operating for the last five months will throw out of employment more than 15,000 union miners in Franklin county alone.

Lindbergh declined to discuss his plans.

STOPS AT CINCINNATI

CINCINNATI, O., March 29.—(AP.)—Col. Charles Lindbergh made less than a five-minute stop here today. He landed at Lunken airport from Lexington, Ky., dropped off Col. Henry S. Breckenridge, and took off again without stopping his motor.

He was accompanied by Maj. Thomas G. Lamphier, of Selfridge Field, Mich. He did not announce his next stop, but it was believed the destination was St. Louis or Detroit.

him to the lumber yard on the outskirts of town.

The postmaster, who was a shell-shocked war veteran, was seen hiding behind a lumber pile. As the three troopers closed in about him, he drew his revolver and shot himself in the head.

While the man hunt was in progress, Jesse McHugh sat desolately in the funeral parlor of Charles Ronk, near the body of his murdered fiancee.

His wife was insanely jealous, Dr. Koontz testified, and cited numerous instances where he had been working late or attending meetings and was accused of being out with women.

Returning at 11 o'clock one night after treating a male patient in his office, Dr. Koontz testified, his wife drew a revolver and shouted "I'll fix you." He took the weapon from her. His attorney L. Roy Dickie brought out that Mrs. Koontz had carried the weapon on their honeymoon. After that the doctor took all weapons in the house to his office.

On other occasions she pulled a patch of hair from his head, struck him across the face with a coat hanger, scratched his face and hurled a flower vase at him, he testified.

He related that returning home and finding no dinner ready he and his wife dined at the Pittsburgh Athletic Association, then went for a ride in the park. Mrs. Koontz, he testified, said she was going to end it all.

When she stepped from the car, the doctor said he stepped on the gas and went home. Mrs. Koontz returned later. It was shortly after this affair that he told her that he was going to leave. He called a transfer man and had her goods packed for shipment to Nashville and his to the athletic club. Then Mrs. Koontz pretended to faint, the doctor said. He said he knew it was only simulated, because he tested her eyelids and found them rigid, whereas, in case of fainting, the eyelids are relaxed. Fainting spels, he testified, usually followed quarrels.

WAS HELPED BACK TO BETTER HEALTH

North Side Lady Finds Benefits of Famous Ten Herbs Far-Reaching.

"I couldn't sleep properly, had no appetite, and was all run down," was the statement of Mrs. G. Miller, 1224 Dickson Street, North Side, Pittsburgh, to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily demonstrating the great natural medicine, Ten Herbs. "My stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels were out of order, but your medicine ended all these troubles." Mrs. Miller continued.

"I used to have pains all over my body, and my bowels were very irregular. I had pains across my back, which I believe were from my kidneys. Gas would form on my stomach, giving me pains around my heart. My liver was sluggish, and I had black spots in front of my eyes. At times I would lose my voice. I was very nervous all the time, and could do little work. I even had my tonsils removed, but that did not help my condition.

"I read about Ten Herbs in the newspapers, and decided to try your medicine. Three bottles made a big change in me. My appetite is good and my stomach is in such fine condition that I can eat things I did not dare eat before. I do not have any more gas on my stomach, or pains around my heart. My bowels are regular, and I am no longer nervous. I am free of pains and my sleep is sound. My liver is in good condition, and I feel fine in every way. I gladly recommend Ten Herbs to the public."

Probably no other medicine has received the overwhelming tribute and praise from grateful local men and women, who state they have been wonderfully benefited by it, as Ten Herbs. Thousands tell how it ends disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels, and benefits the kidneys. Ten Herbs is an ideal spring tonic, since it is purely herbal and gives the entire system a thorough cleansing, eliminating poisonous waste matter and impurities.

The Ten Herbs Man is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine. Free sample given.

SQUIBB'S
Dental
Cream
Contains over 50% Squibb's Milk of Magnesia
Neutralizes Mouth Acidity
E. R. SQUIBB
New York

Why they call it The Danger Line

Around every one of your teeth the gums thin out to small rounded edges. These rounded edges and the teeth form tiny V-shaped crevices. In these, food particles collect and ferment. Acids are formed. Unless these acids are neutralized, decay of teeth and irritation of the gums will take place.

It is because of this very real threat that the line where teeth and gums meet is called The Danger Line. Proper care here will protect against the decay that is most difficult to control.

Squibb's Dental Cream, made with Squibb's Milk of Magnesia, protects The Danger Line. When you brush your teeth with Squibb's, tiny particles of Squibb's Milk of Magnesia get into all of these remote pits and crevices at The Danger Line. They neutralize the acids thoroughly and protect the teeth and gums afterwards. 40c a large tube. At all druggists.

Nobile Plans to Place Cross at North Pole

ROME, March 29.—(AP.)—A small oak cross with metallic ornaments is being prepared by the Vatican to be placed on the site of the North Pole if Gen. Umberto Nobile succeeds in his efforts at landing his dirigible on the ice there this spring. With the cross will be placed a short pole bearing an Italian flag.

Gen. Nobile, if flying conditions make it possible, will land his ship at the pole, deposit the wooden cross and the flag of his fatherland, make what investigations of the area are possible and proceed on his flight.

STRIKERS MEET PIT GUARDS IN CONFERENCE

STEUBENVILLE, O., March 29.—(AP.)—The end of mass picketing in the eastern Ohio coal fields was seen today by Stanley Borthwick, United States marshal for the southern district of Ohio, as the result of a "peace conference" held here last night by mine union officials, pickets and representatives of the state and national governments.

At the meeting, called by Borthwick at the request of Col. O. L. Caldwell, National Guard observer, between 50 and 60 law enforcement officers and representatives of the union gathered informally around a conference table and arrived at an understanding of the terms of anti-picketing injunctions affecting the mines.

The field was covered mine by mine, with the chief of the detachment of United States deputy marshals and the chief of the picket camp at each mine facing each other across the table and talking the matter out under the chairmanship of Col. Caldwell.

The meeting continued for hours and at its conclusion both parties agreed that a fuller understanding of the provisions of the injunction had been gained. Union officials and picket leaders said they would go back to the union ranks and see to it that the members generally were informed fully as to the injunction terms.

The injunction was granted last November by Judge Benson W. Hough, of Columbus. It provided that not more than three pickets should be stationed in each picket camp and that the camps were to be not closer than 300 feet along the roads leading to the mine properties.

Both sides to the discussion said it was arranged partly to combat alleged Communist propaganda blamed for much of the recent unrest in the area.

Farmerette Says She's Bankrupt

Gladys Grace Long, who described herself as a farmerette, and Clifford Long, a farmer, of Perry township, Mercer county, filed voluntary petitions in bankruptcy in Federal Court today.

Gladys said she had assets of $300 but liabilities of $380. Long listed $793 in debts and $290 in assets, which included—as assets —three ducks and a chicken.

BELIEVE FATHER OF SIX ENDED LIFE IN CREEK

The Chartiers Creek will be searched today for the body of George Dubel, 44, of 1211 Mansfield street, Glendale, who, police fear, has committed suicide. Dubel father of six children, left home early Tuesday after informing his wife that he probably would not return. His hat was found on the creek bank just above the Main street, Carnegie, bridge yesterday.

LAW STUDENTS IN MOCK TRIAL

The second case on the March docket of the Duquesne University Law Club moot court will be tried tonight in Common Pleas Court before Judge Richard Martin when suit for $25,000, the outgrowth of an "auto accident," will be heard.

Frank Corey, student in the law school, is being sued by a "Mrs. Barnes," who with her four children were injured in an accident, in which her husband was killed.

James A. Cole and Frank M. Loebig have been retained by the plaintiff, while Theodore Ellenbogen and Otto Scholz will represent the defendant.

SHARON FIRE DESTROYS GARAGE AND 4 AUTOS

SHARON, Pa., March 29.—The F. E. Kerr Company garage, two trucks and two passenger cars were destroyed and an adjoining house was damaged by fire which broke out in the garage yesterday. The loss was estimated at $8,000.

VET CONTRADICTS VIEW LEGION 'KNOWS MORE'

J. H. Crehan, a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion, takes exception to a statement in a recent editorial in The Sun-Telegraph in which it is observed that "the legion knows more about war than any other organization in the country." Mr. Crehan points out that the Veterans of Foreign Wars have men who have participated in every war and expedition engaged by the United States on foreign shores, and are the most experienced in practical military affairs.

LECTURE ON BIRD LIFE TO MARK AUDUBON BANQUET

Pictures and talk on bird life will feature the annual banquet of the Audubon Society of Western Pennsylvania to be held Saturday night in McCreery's dining room, Sixth avenue and Wood street. Dr. Arthur A. Allan, of the laboratory of ornithology at Cornell University, will be the principal speaker. He will illustrate his talk with moving pictures and slides. His subject will be "Home Life of Birds."

Realizing that many persons not members of the Audubon Society are interested in birds, the organization has placed tickets for Saturday's banquet on public sale at Weldin's Book Store, 413 Wood street. John A. Broun is in charge of the ticket sale.

MAY'S—STORES ALL OVER GREATER PITTSBURGH

SUSPECT SEIZED IN HOLDUP AT HOTEL

Declared to be a member of the bandit gang which shot up the Tunnelview Hotel, West Liberty avenue, two weeks ago in an attempted holdup, with the result that two policemen were suspended for alleged cowardice, Joseph Mazzetti, 27, of 1040 Fifth avenue, is out on $1,500 bail today, following his arrest yesterday. He was taken into custody by city detectives in Watson street, near Hooper street.

When arrested Mazzetti was in an automobile, the license number of which corresponded with that used by the bandits in the holdup, police say. Mazzetti was questioned at the detective bureau and ordered held for a hearing Friday.

The holdup occurred early the morning of March 15. Patrolmen David Clements and Alex Hogel who were in the place failed to arrest the men and as a result were ordered suspended for 90 days each by the police trial board. Several bullets were fired in the holdup and the bandits fled without getting anything.

FAWN TWP. MAN WILLS $17,500

In a will filed for probate today, William Seel, of Fawn township, leaves an estate of $17,500 to his wife, Barbara, with the stipulation that it go to their children at her death.

EX-DRY AGENT PAROLED

John T. Kidd, Washington (D. C.) war veteran and former prohibition agent, today was paroled for one year by Federal Judge R. M. Gibson after he had pleaded guilty to impersonating a government officer. Phillip Weinberger, of Braddock, testified Kidd tried to "shake him down" for $25.

MUSIC

Pittsburgh Polyphonic Choir

Carnegie Music Hall

The Pittsburgh Polyphonic Choir gave its Passion-tide concert in Carnegie Hall last night for the benefit of St. Joseph's Protectory for Homeless Boys. The choir repeated Rev. Carlo Rossini's beautiful cantata, the Son of Man, the composer directing. A small orchestra played accompaniments.

I have had the pleasure of hearing this cantata annually and am always more impressed with its richness of fluent melody rather than the richness in its counterpoint. The feeling is truly Italian throughout. It is gentle music describing more the character of Jesus than the tragedy of His death and the promised resurrection. Last night's performance was by far the best I have heard; the choir's tone was more vigorous and more evenly balanced than heretofore. Frank Cuthbert sang the solo baritone parts with more understanding of the music than other soloists have done; this was indeed no small feature of the cantata.

The concert will be repeated tonight.

IF RHEUMATIC EAT NO SWEETS

Says glass of salts help to overcome Rheumatism acid.

Rheumatism is easier to avoid than to cure, states a well-known authority. We are advised to dress warmly, keep the feet dry, avoid exposure, and above all, drink plenty of good water and avoid eating sweets of all kind.

Rheumatism is caused by body waste and acids resulting from food fermentation. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this poison from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work; they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this waste and acids, which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain, called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is helpful to neutralize acidity, remove waste matter, also to stimulate the kidneys, thus often ridding the blood of rheumatic poison.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.

Three More Prizes to Tempt Dramatist Who Can Produce That "Great American Play"

By GEORGE SEIBEL.

WRITERS of plays ought to oil their typewriters, and get ready to produce the masterpieces slumbering in their brains, for fame and royalties are waiting just around the corner. There are three prize contests now going on designed to encourage the ambitious dramatist, and to bring the stage something new and worth while, with profit to the producer and publisher. The Penn P ublishing Company and Appletons are eager to secure good material for their series of plays, and now Longmans, Green & Co, offer three prizes in connection with the Drama League.

GEORGE SEIBEL

They want a full-length play, a one-act play, and a biblical play—and the awards range from advance royalty of $500 for the first, and $250 advance royalty for the biblical play, to $125 advance royalty for the one-act play. These figures, of course, signify nothing, because it isn't the advance royalty that counts in dramatic profits. Advance royalties are very much like hand money in a real estate deal. They are to bind the bargain.

Prize plays are seldom great plays—but, then, great plays come seldom even when no prizes are offered. Judges and Juries in such contests are as fallible as the rest of the people, and may pass over the best of the manuscripts submitted, to single out for coronation some piece of pretty piffle. Or they may be suffering from indigestion, and may elect to approve some mess of putrid pessimism. The author has to take his chances when he enters the competition. He may be fortunate enough to have written the piece of piffle or the mess of pessimism that captures the critical fancy. You never can tell!

The dramatist who is interested should write either to the Drama League of America, 59 East Van Buren street, Chicago, Ill., or to the Play Department, Longmans, Green & Co., Fifth avenue, New York City, for a circular explaining the details. After he has conned the rules and suggestions, let him sit down to collar the award. It's very easy! Read a few plays by Ibsen, O'Neill, Shaw, Molnar, Maugham, Barrie & Co. Then sit down and write a better one. If this rule is followed religiously, the contestant ought to stand a good chance of winning one of the prizes.

Perhaps the best thing about these contests is that they indicate the existence of an extensive and organized interest in the drama. And they will encourage idle brains to get into action. They may even perform the obstetrical function for the Great American Dramatist. If everybody does his darndest, we can hope for the best.

Writes 'Em

FRANK CRAVEN
Mr. Craven, when he wants a good play to act in, writes one. When he wants a good piece of acting in one of his plays, he does it himself. He is author and star of "The 19th Hole," coming to the Nixon next Monday.

ORATORIO TO BE GIVEN SECOND TIME TONIGHT

WASHINGTON GOOSE EGG MEASURES FOOT

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 29.—J. Ralph Cummins is exhibiting Washington county's largest goose egg, laid by one of a flock on his Mt. Pleasant township farm. It measures 12½ inches in its long circumference and 9⅝ inches the other way and weighs 12 ounces.

OBSERVE LINDY WEEK HERE

Coincident with the showing of "40,000 Miles With Lindbergh," a film depicting the historic flights of the air hero, in the Loew's Penn next week, Mayor Kline has issued a proclamation designating that period as Lindbergh week.

"40,000 Miles With Lindbergh," which might well be called a historical document, opens with the first humble efforts of Wilbur and Orville Wright in aviation and then depicts scenes of Lindbergh's early life and training in flying. The picture shows the historic take-off from Roosevelt Field when the Spirit of St. Louis swooped over the telegraph wires and headed for Paris. The landing at Le Bourget is shown, as well as scenes of the meeting of the "Lone Eagle" with Ambassador Herrick and his amazing reception by the French. The picture shows the unprecedented trip of Lindy to Brussels and London, and his departure on the U. S. S. Memphis for America. Among the thrilling scenes are the ones recording his receptions in Washington and New York.

As the reels unwind it pictures Lindbergh on his tour of the United States. Then follows the nation's hero on his good-will tour through Central America and his second return home, ending in a blaze of patriotic glory with the reception tendered him by the school children in St. Louis.

Careless Washing Spoils Children's Hair

Any child can have beautiful hair—healthy and luxuriant. It is simply a matter of shampooing.

Proper shampooing makes the hair soft and silky. It brings out all the real life and luster, all the natural wave and color, and leaves it fresh looking, glossy and bright.

While children's hair must have frequent and regular washing to keep it beautiful, fine young hair and tender scalps cannot stand the harsh effect of ordinary soaps. The free alkali in ordinary soaps soon dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and ruins it.

That is why thoughtful mothers everywhere now use Mulsified Cocoanut Oil Shampoo. This clear, pure and entirely greaseless product brings out all the real beauty of the hair and cannot possibly injure.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather which cleanses thoroughly and rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust and dirt.

It leaves the hair soft and easy to manage and makes it fairly sparkle with new life, gloss and luster.

You can get Mulsified Cocoanut Oil Shampoo at any drug store. A four-ounce bottle lasts for months.

PRESENTED BY DRAMATIC CLUB

"Her Gloves" is the title of a play to be given by the Belmec Dramatic Club, Brookline M. E. Church, under the auspices of the Epworth League tonight and tomorrow night. V. Bruce Moler and Grace Wood are shown above in one of the scenes. Mrs. Waldo E. Brooks directed the play.

NOT OPPOSED TO HOOVER, THEY SAY

Declaring that the fact they are unpledged to any candidate does not indicate opposition to Herbert Hoover, Mayor Charles H. Kline and George H. Flinn, candidates for delegates to the Republican convention from the Thirty-fifth district today issued a joint statement explaining their attitude.

"The only opponent we have in this district is pledged to Herbert Hoover," read the statement. "We are not opposed to Mr. Hoover. We recognize his ability, integrity and character and good record as a public official. If time, events and party solidarity prove him to be the right man at the right time we shall willingly vote for him in the convention. In the meantime we desire to be at liberty to exercise our judgment and meet new situations as they arise, as our conscience dictates."

BOMBERS THREATEN JUDGE AGAIN

Hess to Ask for Retrial

HEARS LIFE SENTENCE CALMLY

Sixteen-year-old Alvin Hess, convicted yesterday of first degree murder, will ask a new trial in an effort to escape life imprisonment, the penalty which accompanied the verdict, Attorney A. L. Cramer, whom the court appointed to defend the lad, said he had four days in which to file the appeal.

The jury required only two hours to decide that Hess had been one of those who beat to death and robbed a still unidentified stranger on the Monongahela River bank near Browns Bridge last September 2.

The youth heard the verdict with the same calmness that characterized his behavior the three days of the trial.

Neither did his mother, Mrs. Sarah Hess, display emotion.

Assistant District Attorney George F. P. Langfitt, who prosecuted, said that 14-year-old Robert Stevens, also of West Homestead, who was indicted with Hess for the murder, would be placed on trial Monday. Yesterday Attorneys William H. Coleman and Gertrude Freidlander, who will defend the Stevens boy, obtained from Judge Joseph M. Swearingen permission to have their client's mental condition examined. Dr. C. C. Wholley will make the examination at the detention rooms of the Juvenile Court, where Stevens has been confined.

A similar petition was filed by Attorney Langfitt, representing the Commonwealth, and Dr. Edward E. Mayer, who examined the Hess boy, will make the examination for the prosecution.

Hess will remain in the county jail to await sentence, which will not be imposed until after the four days have elapsed in which the defense may file its motion for a new trial.

STATE SENATOR ALSO "MARKED" IN WAR

CHICAGO, March 29.—Fuel was added to Chicago's raging political bonfire today when it became known that United States Marshal Palmer Anderson had dispatched to Attorney General Sargent at Washington a recommendation that 500 United States deputy marshals be authorized to stand guard over the ballot boxes at the April 10 primaries here.

The proposal, first suggested by George E. Carlstrom, attorney general of Illinois, is regarded by political observers as a gesture in retaliation for the bombing of the home of Senator Charles S. Deneen and Judge John A. Swanson, the Deneen-Carlstrom candidate for state's attorney.

The use of federal guards, Deneen leaders point out, is made possible under a recent ruling of the United States Supreme Court, which held that a primary is an integral part of an election and therefore subject to federal supervision.

NEW THREATS

Meanwhile, authorities busied themselves today in prosecuting investigations of the political bombings and in trying to trace the source of new threats received by Judge Swanson and State Senator Herman J. Haenisch, Deneen candidate for committeeman from the Forty-sixth Ward.

"You can tell the judge that we will do a better job next time," was the substance of an anonymous telephone threat received at the home of Judge Swanson. The threat was received by Mrs. Swanson, already on the verge of a nervous collapse from having her house bombed Monday night.

The threat to State Senator Haenisch came in the form of an anonymous letter, stating that his home was marked for bombing and that one of his children was to be kidnaped. The letter, crudely written and addressed to his wife, read as follows:

"Evidently you don't know that there is a plot on to get one of your babies before the primaries, do you? It may happen like Swanson's house or Senator Deneen's. Tell your fat husband to beware." It was signed "The Rat."

Guards already on duty at the threatened homes were augmented when the new threats were received. Commissioner of Police Michael Hughes told Judge Swanson not to "worry." The judge replied that after having his home damaged to the extent of several thousand dollars and narrowly missing death himself at the hands of a wild "pineapple" thrower, he believed it was high time for "somebody to worry."

Brings His Ear To Court--In Pocket

By Universal Service.

NEW YORK, March 29. John Giannone carried his left ear in his hip pocket yesterday. He took it to court with him and charged Felice Sigana with felonious assault.

He said his ear was torn off in the midst of the festivities at a party last night. The judge told Giannone to put his ear back in his pocket and held Sigana in $1,000 bond.

Why We Behave Like Human Beings

by George A. Dorsey, Ph.D., LL.D.

Why the Unadjusted Marriage Relations All About

Customs Change, Laws Vary, But The Mate Instinct Is Inherent And Will Not Be Denied

Why men don't understand women was discussed by Dr. Dorsey in The Sun-Telegraph yesterday. The boy and girl are trained from infancy to meet different situations. As they grow they are compelled to make different adjustments. The womanly woman and the manly man are products of training, not of inherited characteristics.

Reasons for Marriage Failures

CHAPTER XLIV.

THERE are many histories of marriage. Westermark's, in three large volumes, is a mere sketch and was out of date the day it was printed. New marriage customs have been invented. Marriage does not stand still. It grows—backward, forward, up and down. There are as many forms of marriage behavior as there are married couples. Possibly more: some dissolve and remarry. Marriage laws vary from state to state, nation to nation, age to age. Can marriage behavior be generalized or reduced to law?

GEORGE A. DORSEY

There is no biologic excuse outside structural deficiency for unmated adult human beings. Many human societies respect that law. Other communities flaunt it, disregard puberty, indefinitely postpone mating or mate casually, and make the best of children as they do of other accidents.

In other words, we get little light on human marriage behavior from the Mind of the ameba or the Social Instincts of the anthropoid apes. Human marriage behavior is as distinctly and peculiarly human as is a sewing machine or the "Wedding March" of Lohengrin. The mate instinct must be there: is there. If we are born whole, we have it; the capacity to seek a mate, the impulse to find one if it takes us overseas.

Why, then, a world of sexually unadjusted: unmarrieds, divorcees, oft-marrieds courtesans, loveless marriage, childless marriages? Endless kinds.

Where Marriage Fails

Two general observations: (1) Europe's population has doubled in the last 100 years despite the enormous losses from wars, diseases, infantile mortality and drains overseas. The mate-hunger is not impotent. (2) We hear only of the sexually-unadjusted. There are millions of happily mated couples in America who find no fault with nature's marriage laws or those recorded in codes.

Now for the other side: The behavior of the mate-impulse. It leads many to marry. The marriage fails, drunkenness, cruelty, infidelity, desertion, etc. The courts recognize many grounds. Why does one man become a drunkard, another beat his wife? Marriage itself is no more responsible for such misfits than is business for arson or banking for defalcation. The man who beats his wife probably beat his sister or his mother. The man who drinks because or in spite of his wife would turn to drink under any other situation to which he could not adjust himself.

A larger mismated group is based on the polygamous habits of one or the other, generally the man. In sowing wild oats he scattered the energy with which he was endowed to secure a mate; and acquired the polygamous habit. After marriage he may acquire the monogamous habit; he may not—his emotional nature will not so easily find sufficient outlet in one woman. He also learned another habit; that he could get what he wanted only if he translated his wish into action. That lesson has great value, but is of no use in marriage unless he wants to be faithful to one woman. To make that want effective he has to break himself of an emotionally-reinforced habit.

The other side of that picture is the woman whose early mate-hunger was put on ice by a prudish mother. If she is brought up on kisses and kisses all her girl friends every time she sees them, she wastes a lot of emotion of biologic value. She overflows with sentimentality and has no love left for anybody. Or she grows up a "pure and innocent girl." She has no adequate response in a situation where a mate is wanted. Sheer ignorant "innocence" is no match in a situation where the man knows too much.

Work Helps Morals

Between the age of 15 and 25 are 10 long years. During these years the mate-hunger impulse cannot be put to sleep, as one does a child; or locked in a closet, as one does—but should not—a naughty child. It is inevitable that huge amounts of energy be diverted. But where? What is to be its outlet?

"Raise the standard of men's morality!" But not by talk. Work will do it. Many a boy is so hard at work he has no further energy left. His sex-impulse is expended in life-impulse activities. Girls begin to find outlets for their energy in action, in sports and games, and in the broader affairs of life interests. All-night dances can dissipate a lot of energy for both sexes.

The boy or girl who for 10 years chases pleasure as the main business of life may be "pure," but neither will be likely to acquire any socially useful habits during that time. Both men and women can become such habitual flirts that they are abnormal; they are sexual perverts.

The normal sex-complex can be broken in many ways; disappointment in love, no response on the part of the mate, etc. The sex-complex thus becomes conditioned to abnormal methods of response—tendency to avoid or be disgusted under conditions which are neither "disgusting" nor to be avoided; prudishness, sloppy sentimentality, morbid interest in the externals or accessories of sex conduct.

Bad Homes, Bad Girls

The sex-complex thus comes to mean for one individual one thing; for another, quite something else. It comes to be as varied as behavior itself. What it is at any one time depends on the lessons it has learned; its experience, its habits. No man or woman enters into marriage with a sex-complex slate on which something has not been written. Until recently, it was likely to be too little on the part of the woman, an igorance so ingrained that learning was painful; too much on the part of the man, more than he could rub off.

Foundations of habits (which mean character) are laid in homes. Nine-tenths of the girls that enter juvenile courts leave bad homes. As Thomas puts it, many a girl cannot be said to fall, because she has never risen. She is not immoral, but a-moral. The mate-hunger is turned into love for adventure, clothes, theater, attention, distinction, freedom.

Until recently, woman had almost no incentive or opportunity to attempt achievement in male fields. Why should she when there was an easier way?

Rogers Strong for New Jail in Cleveland

CLEVELAND, O., March 29. —Seven times Cleveland has voted down bonds to rebuild a jail that was built in 1866.

WILL ROGERS.

In company with every prominent minister in the city—Catholic, Jewish, Protestant and Baptist—we went through the jail.

Honest, it would be a disgrace to serve a term in it. It will have to be rebuilt by outside subscriptions from humanitarian cities like Akron, Hamilton, Columbus, Cincinnati, Oberlin and Detroit.

I think it and Borah's fresh air fund to cauterize the Republicans, are the two outstanding charities of the hour.

Yours,

WILL ROGERS.

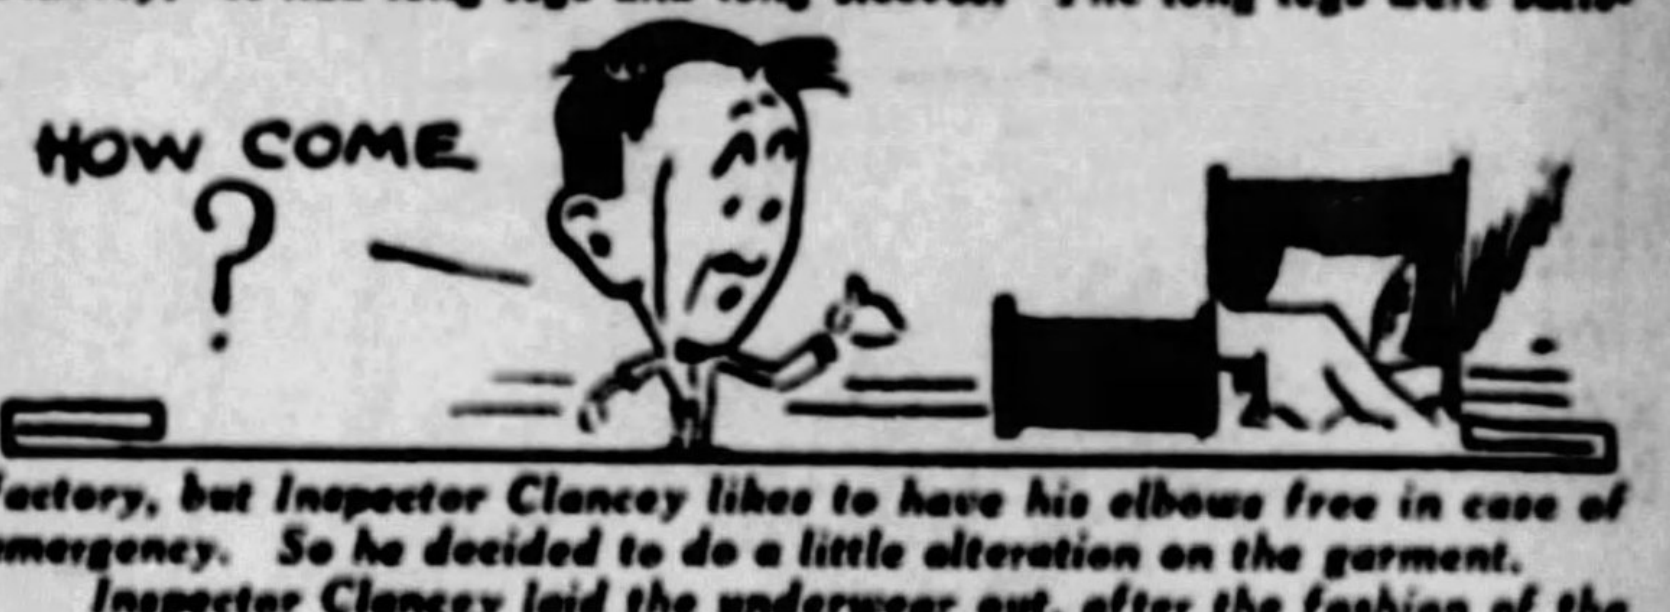
WE CAN think of no more ringing nomenclature, to use a four-dollar word, than: "Inspector Clancey." And instead of coming out of a magazine story that name is to be found on the police payroll of Pittsburgh. And here is a story about Inspector Clancy, which, begging his pardon, we use.

Inspector Clancey had a suit of underwear of a very particular texture. Women would call it balbriggan, and we trust that is the way it is spelled.

However, the style was not minutely to the liking of Inspector Clancey. It had long legs and long sleeves. The long legs were satisfactory, but Inspector Clancey likes to have his elbows free in case of emergency. So he decided to do a little alteration on the garment.



Inspector Clancey laid the underwear out, after the fashion of the surgeon who is about to extract a couple of tonsils lays his victim out, and taking a pair of shears Inspector Clancey snipped off one sleeve just above the elbow. Wishing, of course, to have both sleeves shortened similarly he made a measurement and performed another operation, sighing to himself: "Well, now that will be fine."

With these words Inspector Clancey then put aside the garment and went to bed, as it was night-time, which possibly we should have mentioned before, without springing it on you so sudden-like.

The next morning Inspector Clancey thought he would give his underwear a try-out. Jauntily, he stepped into the garment, when he discovered a second after he donned the suit that he had cut one sleeve and one leg instead of the two sleeves.

Mrs. Clancey tells the story, concluding with: "Of course, he gave me the dickens for it."

IN THE window of the Oakland Savings and Trust Company, which, as the name may suggest to the extra-penetrating, is located in Oakland, there is a picture of Pie Traynor and idol-worshippers in the form of a couple of kids.

Mr. Harry Mooney, a denizen of the Schenley Farms district, called our attention to the picture. The picture extends beyond the photographic art to become a symbol of the standing in this community of Pie Traynor, who, you know, is possibly the best third baseman who ever lived.

Furthermore, the picture serves to bolster a wavering faith after a modicum of disillusionment concerning diamond characters. Traynor is not only a big, husky, stalwart third sacker, best of the realm, but he is also this kind of a fellow: In taking a sup of wine he asked: "Do you think this is all right?" Possibly such a rhapsody as this is not becoming, but this being Thursday we always allow ourself a little pinch of sentimental stuff every final Thursday in the Marches of leap years.

WILLIAM HAMILTON, cashier of the Third National Bank, and one of the most amiable of cashiers, frankly remarked the other day in an incidental way only that there were quite a few days when he didn't care so much about this column. You wonder, possibly, why we should mention that here. Well, it's this way: One time another fellow was critical and we contrived to use his name in a story and the very next day he called up to say: "You know, there for a while it was pretty dull, but now yesterday it was fine."

There's a lot of tricks to this racket.

MR. JAMES MASON, of the boxing game here, is looking for $15, as the boys sometimes say in a certain game. It appears that an enthusiastic boxing entrepreneur signed two or three of Mr. Mason's boys to box at a certain club. After the details were arranged the promoter expressed to Mr. Mason in an embarrassed way that he was shy just a little rail fare to get home. He was supplied with $15, but it now develops unfortunately that the stranger was no more of a boxing promoter than you are. "In arranging terms for the matches," said Mr. Mason later and a little sadly, "that fellow was the most generous I have run across for a long time."

JERRY The Epic of a Girl Who Had to Wait · by Elenore MEHERIN

Marza Tells Jerry That She Has Another Daughter, The One Who Is Dying

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Jerry King, good looking, charming and nineteen, falls in love with Saxon Rhodes, a young architect. Marza, her fascinating mother, warns her that idealists like Saxon make poor husbands. When he goes abroad to study, Jerry promises to wait for him. She refuses a proposal of marriage from Heinie Ross. Jerry agrees to wait three years longer. She wonders whether Saxon loves her as completely as she loves him. Saxon calls on his sister who warns him against marrying anyone and facing poverty. Saxon's attention to Ora Pringle gives Jerry a pang of jealousy. They attend a week end party where things start to happen. She decides to give Saxon up. Jerry leaves for Chicago to join her mother.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

"NO—You've not understood. There are always things about another we don't understand. Even in a relation intimate as ours.

"Jerry, do you remember your father?"

"Yes—" said Jerry, startled by the abrupt transition. "He had bony hands. I remember his thin lips and the way he coughed. I hated to hear that. I remember the way he said to you: 'Must you even smile at the bellhops?' "

"Ah," said Marza. "It was a phrase of his. Were you fond of him? Do you remember loving him very much?"

"I didn't like him. I was afraid of him. He was so gloomy. I was happier a thousand times after he died. What makes you think of him tonight?"

"It's one of the things I want to talk about—your father. Do you remember Earl Brooks?"

"And the trip we might have had to Europe? I adored Earl Brooks—I think I do yet. I was 12 then and couldn't see why you wouldn't marry him."

"Of course, you don't remember Stephen Marsh?"

"And the bracelet with the silver bangles?"

"The man—not the bracelet. Do you recall Stephen? He came to visit us once. But you were very small."

"I was 9. We were in the rose garden house in Los Gatos, where my father used to sit under the trees and make you sit beside him and hold his hands."

"Yes—we were there when Stephen came for the visit."

Clear as though the picture were carved in living color, Jerry remembered that scene in the garden just outside her mother's window. Stephen Marsh, lordly, laughing fellow with his brown hair frosted at the temples. Stephen whispering hoarsely: "Oh, Marza, six years of this—damnable—damnable."

Marza's hand reaching up and closing Stephen's lips. He sweeping to her, kissing her. Marza returning to the sick man with her eyes lighted; her eyes like lights dancing.

"What do you remember of Stephen, Jerry?"

"That he was gay and handsome."

"Nothing else?"

"And that I asked you once after my father died: 'Will Stephen come again?' You said: 'No—he'll never come again!' and you ran into your room and closed the door."

Marza's eyes glowed like black, sunken stars in the pallor of her cheeks. Her hands, modeled like a statue's, lay inert on the table. Now through the parted lips went a sharp hurried breath.

But she said quietly: "He didn't come again. For he was dead. Stephen was killed in a railroad accident two days before your father passed."

She got up quickly and went over to the bureau, standing there in the shadows.

"Oh, mother," said the girl running to her: "he died? Like that? And you loved him?"

"I loved him. From the moment I first saw him. I was 21 and married four years to a man I found it hard even to tolerate. We were in New York when we met Stephen. We were there one year when your father went away. He went to the Ural Mountains and was gone two years.

"I had those two years . . . completely. Stephen and I had those two years. Then your father returned."

She steadied herself on the bureau.

Jerry looked into her mother's blanched, drawn face. "Oh, mother."—must you tell this now? Why do you torment yourself."

"I wish to tell this. I have brought you here to listen. It is necessary. I am not tormented. I had the two years and am glad . . . riotously boundlessly glad. I've always been.

"Then your father returned. He was jealous of all men. But of Stephen violently. We came back to San Francisco."

Now Marza went over and sat on the stiff chair near the table.

"We came back to San Francisco, Jerry. But I left a priceless gift here behind me. . . . I had to —it seemed that I had to. I left my child and Stephen's here behind me. . . . He watched out for her—she was 3 years old. Your father never knew. . . ."

"And now—mother now——"

Marza took a picture from a book on the table. "Look at her. You will see her tomorrow—your sister, Jerry—who is dying and who needs us. . . ."

CHAPTER XXXV.

"YOUR sister, who is dying, Jerry, and who needs us—"

With shaking hands, all the chords of her being touched and vibrating, Jerry took the picture.

The face of a girl with gallant, winsome look—a very young girl with laughing eyes and an eagerness in the strong, sweet mouth. A wondrous pretty face, it seemed to Jerry, who now gazed at it through misty, troubled eye.

"Oh, mother," said she, choking, "why did you keep her away? Why did you never tell?"

"Would that I had! This might not have happened. This would never have happened. I am punished. I deserve to be punished. She may be taken from me. They will not say the danger is past. And if she lives—if she lives, she may not walk again. She fell from a horse and has broken her back."

"Oh, mother!"

Marza closed her eyes, sitting there blanched and stony. "I have betrayed my trust—frightfully betrayed it. At first I was forced to it. I had to hide her. As the years went, there seemed no opportune time . . . no way—I was a coward—

"Now," she raised a heavy, inert hand and struck it across her forehead. "Now, this comes of it! This comes to her through me!"

She put up her hands, motioning away the solace Jerry would have offered. "There is none," she murmured. "No excuse—no rationalizing it. Listen—"

Through the strained, intense hush went Marza's voice in the low, husky music of pain. Vivid pictures flashed.

Marza in love with Stephen, radiantly young, bidding George King goodby. The two years' absence—the two supreme, happy years. And the little girl Stephanie born to them. Eight months they had her. One night, one desperate, agonized night, the word of George King's return. Stephen and Marza taking their child, their adored pretty little thing, away from the secret home they had shared, giving it to the care of a nurse. Bidding each other that heart-broken farewell.

"You remembered her, Jerry. You remembered your little sister. And frightened me with your talk. You used to ask where the baby went. Oh, how terrified I was. I used to hold you in my arms and tell you never, never to talk of her. One day you came in from a walk. You ran up and whispered: 'I saw our baby. I saw her in the park. And someone else has got her. Another lady.' You were shaking with excitement and wanted me to go out and find her. You cried when I said it wasn't ours. You were very dear.

"I never left you alone a moment with your father. He was busy and ill and fortunately you bothered him. They were terrible years—those three years we remained in New York after your father's return. . . ."

Harried, jealous years that held snatched, flaming joy in the daily visits to the little girl and in the wild, stolen moments with Stephen.

"I used to wait till he left in the morning. Then I would fling on my coat and rush out to see her. Oh, how quickly those mornings flew. She was running about and talking. She would cling to me and say: 'Don't go, Marzie—don't go!' And I would come home with heart breaking.

"Then your father became sicker. Sometimes for a week he wouldn't leave the house. I had to sit with him. He was suspicious if I opened the door—if I went to the corner to mail a letter. Those days would pass and I would almost be crazy with longing. But I could see neither of them.

"One noontime he followed me. It was the first time in two months we had dared to meet. He saw Stephen; saw him come up in the gallant way he had and take my hands.

"Five minutes later I was in a taxi with your father. We drove home. He began to pack our trunks. I pleaded. I promised. Anything for a day's delay. He went on packing.

"I begged him to free me. I threatened to run away. But he would have taken you. The state would have given you to him. He reminded me of this. He told me I could go. He said: 'I will keep the child.'

"So I went with him. That night we were on the train to Francisco. I left without seeing her—without the chance of a last hour with her—without a word for her care—. Two years passed—"

For two years Marza didn't see her child. Stephen cared for it. That summer before his death he was transferred to Chicago.

Then Marza went wild with anxiety. A little thing only 5 years deserted—left alone—traitorously alone.

So Stephen had the child brought to Chicago. It was put in a convent there. And he came on to the rose-garden house in Los Gatos, brooking George King's hostility, just to tell Marza of this; just to make her sure that he would not forsake the little one.

ACtually, it was SIMply AWful! I mean I HONestly felt TERribly sort of SORry for the odd soul because ARab, my dear, was SIMply unMERciful the way he RAZZED him, my dear —can you BEAR it? Gosh, it was funny! I mean I VOW I NEARly had hysTERics because I mean ARab kept sort of SAYing these SCREAMing THINGS which were sort of PARables, or whatever you call it, of all these exCIting adVENtures which his BROTHer's been telling everybody and which of course NEVer happened to him at ALL, my dear, and I mean you SHOULD have seen the BOzo's exPRESsion as ARab sort of GLIBly reCIted these KILLing INcidences! Madge Fears for Mary Harrison's Future

THERE was something in Philip Veritzen's tone even more than the words of his little speech concerning Mary Harrison's distractions, which turned me cold with fear for the future of Dicky's lovely ambitious young niece.

But I was not gullible enough to believe that his comment held the real reason for the threat against Mary's ambitions which I read into his remark that his "little protege was having altogether too many distractions for a young woman with ambitions to become the greatest actress of her time." There was something behind the words, and, of course, my thoughts flew at once to the fear Lillian and I cherished—that the great producer knew about his young protege's escapade as the masked dancer, and was only biding his time to execute the "high justice, the middle and the low" upon her.

Intuitively, however, that explanation failed to satisfy me. There was something else in the fixed sardonic watchfulness which he was giving the group opposite him—something which I could not understand. Of one thing I was certain. There was that about the spectacle of the two youths in open rivalry for Mary's favor which roused his antipathy, and I did not believe that his feeling was entirely the impersonal attitude which his words indicated.

He had cleverly masked his intent brooding gaze, but I saw after a little that Mary had caught it and been frightened by it. Of course, to her there was but one explanation, that he had discovered her secret and meant to hold her to account for it.

She sent me a pleading glance, and after a while with the aid of Lillian, to whom I flung one of our old code appeals, I managed to engage not only Mr. Veritzen but Dicky and Miss Lincoln in an animated discussion of a new and startling book we all had read. Carefully edging my chair a bit away from the group and unobtrusively pulling another one near it, I looked at Mary and with a murmured word of excuse to her cavaliers, she crossed to me and sat down, holding out her hand to me.

"Do you mind looking at this finger, Auntie Madge," she asked with apparent anxiety. "I suppose it is my imagination, but it hurts a bit and I'm wondering if it is swelling."

I bent over it and she lowered her voice to a murmur indistinct to anyone else.

"Oh, Auntie Madge, can't you manage for me to see Mr. Veritzen and tell him about that pretty soon. I'm just sure he knows. Did you see the way he looked at me? Can't you ask him if he could see me tomorrow?"

I put a warning hand on her wrist.

"Careful!" I whispered. "It won't be possible to make any appointment with Mr. Veritzen until after your Uncle Dicky goes back Monday. I can see that the time will be filled until then."

"I Could Cry Over My Skin"

No Need to Say that Now.

If you have tried "everything" for your pimples, blackheads or eczema and want to know what it is to get something that really works—then let your skin know the magic touch of sulphur combined with menthol. Nothing more amazing than how sulphur clears the skin,—and as sulphur clears, menthol heals. As combined in Rowles Mentho Sulphur, the two make an astonishing skin corrective and builder. Pimples dry up overnight. Blackheads and coarse pores vanish in a few days. And as for eczema—even the most burning or itching case soon yields. Relief from the burning or itching follows immediately upon application.

Rowles Mentho Sulphur is inexpensive and all druggists supply it in jars ready to use. Be sure it's Rowles.

Hard, Red Pimples Broke Out. Cuticura Healed.

"My trouble began when I was fourteen years of age. My skin looked terribly red and started to peel. A few days later hard, red pimples began to break out. They itched and burned so that I had to scratch, which caused eruptions, and my face looked dreadful.

"I tried many remedies but nothing helped me. I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. I noticed a change after using it so purchased more, which completely healed me." (Signed) Miss Olga V. Zith, 6612-55th Drive, Maspeth, N. Y.

the charm of a clear skin
S.S.S.

You cannot be attractive without a clear skin

EVERYBODY wants to be attractive. It is a great and just ambition. But no one can be attractive without a clear skin—you know that.

Do you realize the importance of pure, rich blood in preserving the health, and that the source of most skin disorders is in the blood?

Remove the cause, which is not in the skin itself, and pimples, boils, eczema and that sallow complexion will disappear.

You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S.S.S?

S.S.S. is extracted from the fresh root of medicinal plants and herbs, and give to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

For more than 100 years S.S.S. has been giving relief in thousands of cases, as testified to in unsolicited letters of gratitude

—purely vegetable

When your system is filled with rich, red blood, you don't have that tired, languid feeling when you awake in the morning. Instead, you feel refreshed, ready to meet the world.

Your appetite is keen—you enjoy work or play—your skin is clear, cheeks naturally rosy.

All this because rich, red blood builds and sustains the body.

"S.S.S. cleared my skin of pimples and blackheads. I think it a most wonderful blood medicine. Several of my friends are taking it for the same reason I did." Miss Margaret Frye, Lapel, Ind.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Miss Helene Hostetter, Formerly of Pittsburgh, Announces Engagement to Los Angeles Man

FROM time to time we get a bit of news about folks who used to live in Pittsburgh but who have drifted away to other cities. They usually recognize their allegiance to their former home by a desire to acquaint their old friends with the big events in their lives.

The announcement from Pasadena, Cal., that Helene Hostetter is engaged to a California man, John Stevenson Griffith, son of the John Tomlinson Griffiths, of Los Angeles, comes in this category. Helene, you know, is a daughter of Mrs. D. Herbert Hostetter, whose home in Fifth avenue has been unoccupied for several years. The Hostetters have been living in New York for most of the year and spending their winters at the Hotel Huntington in Pasadena. They have formed a wide acquaintance in Southern California society, and Helene is very popular with the young people there. Her brother, D. Herbert Hostetter, Jr., also lives out West, making his home in Flintridge, Cal.

The third of the morning musicales which are being sponsored by Mrs. Taylor Allderdice and a group of her friends is going to be held Saturday, you remember, in the home of Mrs. John E. Nelson in Murtland avenue, and I understand that they have arranged a program of quite unusual caliber. The main feature, it seems, is to be a group of readings by Mrs. E. Martin Browne, wife of one of the instructors in the Carnegie Tech drama school and formerly a well-known actress in London. The Brownes came here from Londan about a year ago, and you will remember that Mr. Browne directed the Stage and Play Society's production last week.

Mrs. Browne was known as Henzie Raeburn in England, and she appeared there in plays by Shaw, Galsworthy, Ibsen and other modern writers, as well as taking part in the Shakespearean festival at Stratford-on-Avon. Her theatrical activities also included directing "The Round Trip," written by John Van Durten, author of "Young Woodley," and she won the gold medal at the Incorporated London Academy of Music. Mrs. Browne is calling the program which she is going to give on Saturday "An English Actress in English Plays."

The piano will take a prominent part in the musical section of the program. There are to be two piano numbers for eight hands, by Mrs. Nelson, Mrs. Allderdice, Miss Christine Griggs and Miss Marcella Pallos, and also two groups for two pianos by four hands, the first played by Mrs. John E. Freeman and Mrs. George Willock, and the second by Miss Pallos and Miss Anita Freund.

Then Miss Mary Redmond is to give several solos for the violin, and young David Bodycombe, boy soprano from the Church of the Ascension choir, is going to sing, with Mrs. W. Bailey McCreery as his accompanist.

The fourth in this series of interesting musicales is to be held the morning of May 1 in Mrs. Allderdice's home in Wilkins avenue.

CONGRESS ENTERTAINS PRESIDENTS OF CLUB

A program of artistic merit marked the annual luncheon given yesterday by the Congress of Clubs for the presidents of affiliated clubs. Mrs. Elsie Breese Mitchell, chairman of music, presented the program, introducing Mrs. Caroline Himelblau, contralto; Mrs. Grace Blenko Martin, accompanist, and Charles Riley, violinist. In a gorgeous Russian costume and headdress, Mrs. Himelblau sang in what she termed "a Russian revue," a number of compositions by Russians, these including Rachmaninoff, Gretghaninoff, Borodine and Moussorgsky. Mr. Riley's offerings were of equal interest and worth. Mrs. Martin's accompaniments coming in for their meed of praise, also.

Mrs. Mowbray Ross asked the blessing at table; Mrs. Carl E. Coslowsky, Congress president, presided, and spoke of the joy of service; Mrs. Ambrose Nevin Diehl, vice president at large in the State Federation, of the beauty of club companionship, and Miss Helen Grimes, of the value of organization. The tables were prettily decorated in spring flowers, those at the honor table being combined with Easter appointments.

Mrs. Marion Dean Stouffer had charge of the program which was presented yesterday at the Braddock Woman's Club meeting in the home of Mrs. A. M. Scott, Bell and Jones avenues. Club singing of the state song opened the afternoon's activities, this being followed by soprano solos by Miss Helen Greenwood; violin numbers by Miss Mary Redmond; contralto, by Mrs. Viola K. Byrgerson, and piano by Mrs. Marion Clark Bollinger. Mrs. Bollinger accompanied Mrs. Byrgerson and Miss Hulda Lefridge the other artists. Mrs. James Toddie contributed a reading and Mrs. Stouffer a paper on "Instruments of Antiquity."

Who Cares about Damp Ground?

THE HARMONY BOY IS HEALTHY!

Spring is here and with it comes marble season. Boys, and girls too, will be kneeling and sitting on the damp ground in their efforts to best their playmates and win their marbles.

It will take a strong, healthy youngster to ward off colds, sore throats, and even more serious diseases.

Harmony youngsters have that reserve of health and strength built up in them by the pure, fresh, health-giving milk. Their bodies are strong, eyes clear, and 'shooting hands' steady.

Why should you fear the coming of marble season when your neighborhood store has fresh Harmony Milk in the cooler.

A challenge to doubters!

Make this personal health test and convince yourself!

THERE have been those who have doubted Postum's value to the average, normal man or woman—have called it "a drink for invalids". Then they made this personal health test. They drank Postum with their meals for thirty days in place of caffein beverages—and were convinced!

Instead of tossing restlessly through half the night, they slept soundly. Instead of dragging irritably through the day, they were steady, alert. Headaches and indigestion disappeared. They ate better—felt better—looked better!

Nor did they lose anything in mealtime enjoyment by this simple change in diet. They found Postum a hot, hearty drink with delights all its own. A drink with a rich, full-bodied flavor—a flavor millions prefer to that of any other drink!

Make the test yourself!

Don't wait for doctor's orders! Eliminate caffein from your diet now—make Postum your mealtime drink for thirty days! Then measure your physical gains! Like the others, you'll become a Postum user for life!

Your grocer has Postum in two forms—Instant Postum, made instantly in the cup, and Postum Cereal, the kind you boil. Both are the same wholesome drink—made of roasted whole wheat and bran. No trace of any artificial stimulant in them! Both cost much less than most other mealtime drinks. Order today!

CANDIDATE TO FIGHT COAL AND IRON POLICE

Repeal of the law allowing privately-controlled and privately-paid coal and iron police is advocated by John H. Arnold, legislative candidate in the Thirteenth District, who anounced his platform today.

Arnold also announced in favor of legislation that will curb the use of injunctions in industrial disputes. He declared his intention of supporting the old-age pensions amendment, bills "to make the Department of Labor and Industry of real service to working men and women," voting machines and improvement of the workmen's compensation laws.

MATERNITY CENTER ADVISES THIS CARE OF BABY GARMENTS

NEW YORK, N.Y.—Famous throughout the United States, the Maternity Center Association of New York teaches thousands of mothers the best methods of infant care.

At the Center, everything concerned with baby—clothes, blankets, bottles, toys—is washed in Lux.

"Many soaps contain alkalis harmful to a baby's skin, if the soap remains in the garment," these experts say. "Analysis has shown that Lux contains no harmful alkali.

"Lux is also a truly sanitary form of soap for use with a little baby's things. Unlike cake soap, the same Lux is never used twice."

The makers of Lux take pride in making the tissue-thin Lux diamonds just a little purer and finer than anything else, so that baby's things, as well as mother's, are safely, easily washed in the instant, sparkling Lux suds.

Color—and its effect on feminine beauty—by NED WAYBURN—famous stage director and theatrical producer

COLOR can make or mar feminine beauty, says Mr. Wayburn. One tone in your particular shade of face powder will soften, beautify, heighten a light or deepen a shadow, and so bring out to the full and enhance all the gifts of nature. Another fails utterly—looks commonplace.

From the thousands of girls—debutantes, society women and others—who come to him seeking a stage career, Mr. Wayburn has made some very careful observations and writes as follows:

"I recommend always the Houbigant face powder shades, because they seem to me to have a property of combining with the natural skin tones and immeasurably increasing their beauty. This property is not possessed to my knowledge in the same degree by any other make of powder."

Not only are Houbigant shades superior, but the powder itself, is of course, of superb quality, fragranced with the incomparable Houbigant odeurs—$1.50 and 75c the box. For purse use it comes in the smart hexagonal double compact for $2.50. Choose, too, as your powder base, the one perfect product for the purpose—Quelques Fleurs Skin Lotion. 4 oz.—$1.

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

by HELEN ROWLAND

VAMPING LESSONS FOR MEN

"WHY not give us a few vamping lessons for the men?" inquires a Flapper. "As lovers and charmers, they leave a lot to be desired."

Alas, how true! The modern Man's "technique" might have been acquired in the jungle or at a prize fight, for all the subtlety or grace or skill he sometimes displays.

And yet, almost ANY man could be a riot with the women, if he chose to take the trouble. There are at least seventy-seven guaranteed ways to charm a woman.

HELEN ROWLAND

The simplest and quickest method is by making love to her convincingly. By making her think that you find her adorable, desirable, irresistible.

No woman's heart can fail to hold a soft spot for a man who loves her and has the courage to say it with WORDS. There are hundreds of clever "lines" going around these days; but the most effective line ever sung or pulled is "I love you." Even when she knows it isn't so, she thrills to hear it.

You can charm a woman by flattering her. For, while flattery may frighten a man, no WOMAN can ever forget a man who has told her that she has gorgeous eyes or a beautiful shoulder or cute little ears. It sinks in.

You don't need to wrack your brains for new or original phrases. The same old stock forms will do.

And you can charm a woman, just by thinking of her; by remembering her preferences, her favorite flower or the color of her eyes. Any "thought" on the part of a man is a delightful surprise to a girl!

You can charm her by doing the chivalrous; by the "protecting," devoted, "I'll-take-care-of-you" manner. Every woman loves that. She can come right out of the "gym" after her boxing lesson and fall in love with the first man who helps her off a street car, or gently pulls her from in front of a taxicab. Oh, there are a hundred ways of vamping a woman. It's SO easy!

But, you can never charm a woman by posing for her, or playing to the gallery, or monopolizing the conversation or doing the "caveman," or by taking all the laughs and the curtain-calls.

* * *

Because a woman is like a man in this: she loves the person who "STARS HER!" Not the one who tries to dazzle her!

TOMORROW'S HOROSCOPE

Friday, March 30

*"The stars above us govern our conditions.—*SHAKESPEARE.

AN eventful and pleasant day is shown by the sidereal operations albeit there may be some slight obstacles to overcome or some depressed conditions or annoyances in personal as well as business affairs.

It is quite possible there will be precipitated suddenly a radical change of environment and conditions, or that there may be some occurrence or discovery of a wholly unforeseen nature. Advancement, recognition or preferment in employment or from superiors is seen.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of an important year, with promotion, favors or preferment in employment, probably involving change of environment or travel. Minor obstacles or domestic anxieties should not thwart.

A child born on this day is destined for excellent position and honors, possibly of a public nature, in science, invention or government matters. It may have to overcome small obstacles and inharmonies in itself and its personal contracts.

A HEALTH PRACTICE THOUSANDS FOLLOW

A daily bowl of ALL-BRAN keeps you fit

Doctors say we need bulk every day to keep well and regular. Because of the bulk or roughage it contains, ALL-BRAN is a natural preventive of constipation. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is 100 per cent bran—therefore 100 per cent effective. It supplies bulk in effective quantities. Two tablespoonfuls daily — chronic cases, with every meal — are guaranteed to relieve constipation.

Don't expect part-bran products to furnish the bulk you need. At best they can only be part-way effective. Doctors recommend ALL-BRAN, because it is all bran.

A delicious cereal—healthful and nourishing—with unusual food value. Enjoy with milk or cream, with fruits or honey added. Use in cooking too. Sprinkle into soups. Sold by all grocers. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

FAY-KING

By FAY KING

A HANDSOME, chubby little fellow has had his pictures in all the papers because his daddy died and left him over a million dollars.

What can a million dollars do for a little boy?

It can buy wonderful electric trains. Almost real airplanes! Wonderful toy trucks! Fire engines, with real ladders, and oh, lots of things like that—but then all the wonderful things that a million dollars can buy do not mean as much to a boy as having a good Dad that loves and pals with him!

"But he will never have to worry about his future," you say. "He is fixed for life."

In a way, yes! But say what you will, the thrill and ecstasy of ambition is never the same when you don't have to make your success!

The poor little boy who has to make his own toys has a lot more fun figuring it all out using his imagination! There are other little boys in the world today wearing shabby clothes, and playing on corner lots, who will make as much money as this boy will inherit and they are going to have the fun of earning it, too!

Ford, Edison, Tunney, Dempsey, Chaplin, all these were poor little boys once!

Lindbergh little dreamed when he sat on his daddy's knee to have his picture taken long ago, that some day he would earn a place of esteem in the world, which ten billion dollars could not BUY!

Simple Diet a First Rule of Health

IN a dispatch from Rome the other day it was stated that Mussolini, the Italian dictator, is an extremely simple eater. At a banquet he attended recently there were served all the delicacies of all the seasons. But the premier ate simply, as follows:

DR. COPELAND

Consomme, boiled fish, plain veal cutlet, mashed potatoes and stewed fruit. His beverages were even simpler—one glass of mineral water.

It is well known that the Duce never uses alcohol or tobacco. He is extremely abstemious.

Of course, no one need feel sorry for Mussolini. He took plenty of food and excellent food at that. But there was plenty, in quantity and variety.

Not long ago I had breakfast at the White House. Perhaps it may not be amiss to tell you what was served. That will give you an idea of what the President eats.

The rest of us began with grape fruit. The President took orange juice.

Then came the cereal. It was cream of wheat, a very small portion, I judge about two tablespoonfuls. Rich cream was served with this.

The next course consisted of scrambled eggs and bacon. I noticed that the President ate one slight strip of bacon and an extremely small helping of egg.

After this came the famous griddle cakes and country sausage. They were wheat cakes, not buckwheat cakes, and were served with delicious but thin Vermont maple syrup.

The sausages were in small pats, of which the President took one, and a single griddle cake. He is a very light eater.

The coffee was good and the toast nicely browned. All in all, it was a very excellent meal. My criticism of it is that it had one more course than a breakfast for office men need have.

Now you know what two great men have to eat. They enjoy food just like ordinary humans do. But I must say for them, they are much simpler in their habits than are many public men.

I have in mind now another popular public character who was an enormous eater. I have looked at him in amazement as he took in vast quantities of food. He would eat at one meal as much as Mussolini and Coolidge would eat in a whole day.

What happened to him? He died from acute indigestion.

Men of sedentary habits cannot gorge themselves with food and live out what might be a much longer expectation of life. If you would live long and have your greatest usefulness while you do live, you must eat simply.

Overeating is one of the most common causes for shortened life. Choose your food carefully and eat in moderation. In this advice lies length of days.

Answers to Health Queries

M. S. Q.—Is cancer inherited? A father died of a tumor of the brain; some time later the daughter had a growth which had to be operated upon. One of the relatives on the father's side now has a cancer of the head. If the daughter had children would they be entirely normal?

A.—No, cancer is not considered hereditary. The children would very likely be entirely nomal.

DRINK HOT TEA FOR A BAD COLD

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of this Hamburg tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacupful at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and relieve grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

The 20-Year War on Fat
Mark the results

In the early part of this century research men discovered a cause of excess fat. It lies in lack of certain elements required in proper nutrition.

They found a way to supply those elements, and many tests were made. First on animals, then on people. The results established a new method of combating excess fat.

That method was embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. For 20 years the over-fat have used them—millions of boxes of them. They have told the results to others. That is one reason why slender figures so prevail today.

No abnormal exercise or starvation diet. Moderation helps, but radical methods are not advised. Users of Marmola take four tablets daily until weight comes down to normal, then they stop.

Every box of Marmola contains the formula, also the reasons for results. Users know just what they are taking, and why. So they have no fear of harm.

If you overweigh, try this scientific method. Do so because of the results it has brought to so many, for so long. Do it for new beauty, new health and vitality. Start today. Give Marmola a chance to show you what it does.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 per box. If your druggist is out, he will get them at once from his jobber.

The Pleasant Way to Reduce

For the Lovelorn

By ELEANOR GALE

Blue-Eyed Sally

DEAR MISS GALE:

Coming to you for some advice. I had been going with a boy friend for five months. He is a very decent boy and I like him very much. All of a sudden he quit coming to see me. If I meet him on the street he never speaks to me. Wondering how I could win back his friendship. I met a very nice boy friend lately. He asked me to go to the movies with him, so I consented. I have just been out with him once. On the other hand, I love the other boy friend better. I agree on the smoking and drinking question, but not on the petting question. After returning from the movies, is it right for me to invite him into the house?

BLUE-EYED SALLY.

I wish I could tell you some way to win back this boy's friendship, but if you have not offended him in some way there is nothing for you to do. Don't invite a boy into the house if it is late.

Mrs. K.

DEAR MISS GALE:

Can a wife ruin her own home by letting her husband be too sure of her? What does a man think of his home and children when he goes out with another girl? O, Miss Gale, that's just what my husband did. We are married over eight years, have three babies and our own home, but that doesn't seem to be enough for him. He goes out every night nearly and then I and the children go to bed. We never leave this house from one week to the other. It's work and bed for me every day and night. I don't care, it's enough for me if my husband would only take me in his arms and say "I love you," but he doesn't, so what does he think of us, me especially? For his love is all I want and I don't know if I have it or not. When I ask him he says "yes," but I guess that's all he can say. If his mother knew it would break her heart, so I'll never tell her, no matter what he does. He knows this, so he doesn't care.

MRS. K.

Tell your husband how much you would like to have a few good times, too. You know, when a doormat is placed at one's feet, one naturally walks on it, and it seems to me that there is where you have made your error. Assert yourself a little more and he will have more respect for you.

PIRATES, CUBS SET TO OPEN SERIES

BUCS IN FINAL STAND TONIGHT

SUN-TELEGRAPH SPORTS
BEST IN PITTSBURGH THURSDAY, MARCH 29, TWENTY-THREE

SPORT COMMENT

by JAMES J. LONG

TODAY will witness the opening of the most important stage in the training period of the Pittsburgh baseball club, the beginning of the first test of the reconstructed line-up under the acid of real major league opposition.

Donie Bush.

For this afternoon the Pirates are to inaugurate a series of five games against the Chicago National League club. Today, tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday, the teams are to clash in Los Angeles, and on Monday the fifth and final contest of the string will take place in Phoenix, Ariz.

While those five games are being run off we ought to learn a whole lot more about the new Pittsburgh team—and incidentally more about the Cubs as well—than we have been able to learn in all the conditioning work that has been done up to date.

AND there is every reason to believe that the outcome of the test will be such as to give Pirate stock a big boost.

Ordinarily, it might be argued that a club that could not make a better showing against teams like San Francisco and Oakland than Pittsburgh was able to make, could not hope to escape even worse beatings at the hands of an opponent of higher classification on the baseball scale.

BUT don't let the defeats of the Pirates in the San Francisco and Oakland games blind you to the real merits of the Corsairs nor cause you to look for another string of Pittsburgh reverses when the forces of Donie Bush and Joe McCarthy come together.

Joe McCarthy.

There is apt to be an entirely different result, even though the Bruins have an edge in condition by reason of the fact that they were able to keep working

LOCALS TO SEEK A. A. U. TITLES

Th Allegheny Mountain Association of the A. A. U. will be well represented at the men's senior national A. A. U. swimming championships, which are to be held in Chicago commencing next Monday.

The P. A. A. will send five swimmers, including Bill Wright, local champion sprint swimmer; the Uniontown Y. M. C. A. will send Paul Wyatt, backstroke star, and Andrew Maraz of the Duquesne, Pa., Library will start in the breaststroke event, while the Erie Y. M. C. A. will send Allen Cross for the medley race and R. Strand for the fancy dive.

John T. Taylor of this city, chairman of the national swimming committee, will be the official referee and starter.

FACE N. Y. RANGERS 4 GOALS BEHIND

NEW YORK, March 29.—Facing a task sterner and as seemingly hopeless as any they have experienced in a bitterly fought season, the Pittsburgh Pirates of the ice will make a last attempt to reach the finals of the American Group play for the historic Stanley Cup tonight by playing the local Rangers in the second first round game at Madison Square Garden here.

It would be tough enough if the Pirates only faced the task of beating the Rangers tonight. A mere victory will not suffice, for in order to get into the finals with the Boston Bruins, American group champs, the Bucs must score more goals than the Rangers, and the latter made pretty certain that the Buccos will not accomplish such a feat by copping a 4-0 triumph Tuesday night. That means that the Pirates will have to win this second game and by a five-goal advantage.

While the Pittsburghers and Rangers are battling here, the Montreal Maroons will be carrying a one-goal advantage over the Ottawa Senators in a second first round Canadian group contest at Montreal

BILLY BARTON YANKEES' STEEPLECHASE CHOICE

LIVERPOOL, England, March 29.—Hope spelled with capitals might be the middle name of several hundred Americans who came 3,000 miles to see the crack Yankee steeplechaser, Billy Barton, perform tomorrow in what is unquestionably the world's biggest gamble in racing—the Grand National Steeplechase.

Billy Barton, owned by Howard Bruce, of Baltimore, and Burgoright, owned by Benjamin L. Behr, of Chicago, are the American-bred horses entered in the most gruelling contest for horseflesh ever conceived by man.

More than 200 reserved seats have been added to the Aintree grandstand on account of the rush from the United States sportsmen who began clamoring for seats weeks ago. Most of these reservations were made by cable and some by trans-Atlantic telephone.

Bruce arrived nearly a month ago, and groups of Baltimore friends in subsequent steamers so that the Maryland metropolis will have by far the largest representation at the meet of any American city.

GIVEN BACK TO OBER

Billy Barton has been entered in a number of races since his arrival here, but has failed to show enough form to get him among the favorites picked by the "dopesters." Billy Barton will be ridden by Albert Ober, his regular jockey, in the United States. Bruce decided to give Ober the mount after negotiations with Jack Anthony, well-known English steeplechase jockey, had fallen through.

American-owned horses entered, the owners and the unofficial odds are:

Billy Barton (Howard Bruce of Baltimore), 20 to 1; Burgoright (Benjamin L. Behr of Chicago), 200 to 1; Darraco (A. C. Schwartz, living in France), 100 to 1; Brights Boy (Stephen Sanford, living in France), 100 to 8; Ruddyman (Gordon Selfridge, London), 66 to 1; Scotch Eagle (Harold Fowler, residence unknown), 100 to 1.

Official quotations will be announced tonight.

CHILLY SAUCE

By CHILLY DOYLE

Sun-Telegraph Staff Correspondent.

LOS ANGELES, March 29.—Despite a run of sickness that kept him in bed and other enforced idleness, John Miljus is close to a mid-summer stride, judging by his performance yesterday. The graceful, light-footed Serb has a variety of deliveries and he is a pitcher in the truest sense. He is not a "thrower."

AT THE present time, Miljus looks like the best bet in the Pirate galaxy of slab stars, just as he did as the club rode down the home stretch last summer. Perhaps the Buccos would have copped the flag without Miljus, but Donie Bush seems to think that John was the influencing factor. He certainly did stand out like a beacon as cracked

Souminen Adds to Lead

SEVEN SPRINGS, N. M., March 29.—(AP.)—Leaders in the cross-country run from Los Angeles to New York were passed up in the 39-mile stretch from Los Lunas by Harry Rea of Long Beach, Cal., and Ed Gardner of Seattle, who finished the 25th lap in a dead heat. Their time was 5:31:30.

Ollie Wanttinen, New York; Frank Chavez, Pasadena, and Guisto Umek took second, third and fourth places. They were followed in order by the three men who have become the pace setters in 892 miles already covered—Arne Souminen, Detroit; Peter Gavuzzi, Southampton, Eng., and Andrew Payne, Claremore, Okla.

Souminen, with a three-hour lead in elapsed time over Gavuzzi, increased his advantage by six minutes yesterday. Elapsed time of the three leaders: Souminen, 150:18:05; Gavuzzi, 153:25:06; Payne, 153:49:17.

MEADVILLE, Pa., March 29.—(AP.)—Two all-star high school basketball teams selected from squads of Northwestern and Pennsylvania, met on the Allegheny College floor last night and the Southwestern team emerged the victor, 48 to 25.

Mills of Braddock, Reider of New Castle, Berger of Homestead and Garback of Edgewood, were the outstanding players on the winning team, with Dennison and Massing of Meadville, Holcomb of Erie Central and Clary of Sharpsville, standing out in the play of the Northwestern tossers.

BUCS WIN IN LAST 'FRISCO GAME

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Sun-Telegraph Staff Correspondent.

LOS ANGELES, March 29.—The Pirates arrived in this city this morning, and after getting settled at their hotel, lost little time in rushing out to Wrigley Field, where this afternoon they will hook up with Joe McCarthy's Chicago Cubs in the first game of a four-game series carded with the Windy City entrants in the coming National League pennant race.

Before boarding the sleepers at San Francisco last night, Manager Bush announced that Remy Kremer and Burleigh Grimes would be assigned to the mound duty today, with the big Frenchman starting on the hill against the rejuvenated Cubs.

Regarding the outcome of the series, the Buccos are not saying much as they realize they are not in tiptop shape, but it is safe to say that the impending fights will be interesting as a result of the interest centering in Kiki Cuyler, erstwhile Pirate star and Sparky Adams, who also transferred his allegiance in the big deal.

The Buccos ended up their long stay in the San Francisco district with a display of real hitting, their returned punch giving them a decisive victory over the Oakland team. The score was 11 to 5.

It was pleasing indeed to Bush and his players to see base-hits of all description dropping in wild confusion. The day was delightful, the

GOLDSTEIN, GANS BOX IN TUBE CITY TONIGHT

PHIL GOLDSTEIN is back in town from New York for his 10-round windup with California Joe Gans, Negro lightweight, in the McKeesport ring tonight. Phil has been going great guns down East since his last appearance here, and is confident he will add Gans to his list of victims, the latest of whom to date has been Ray Mitchell, Philadelphia veteran.

Gans broke into McKeesport a few weeks ago against tough Joey LaGrey and made a good showing but he says he can do better and promises to deliver against Goldstein tonight.

Allen Beatty, Negro welterweight sensation of McKeesport, meets Young Guido of Niles O., in the semi-final; Young McGovern of Chambersville and Ralph Martzo of Bloomfield box the second preliminary and K. O. Ferry of McKeesport and Jimmy Duffy of New Kensington will be seen in the opening bout.

SPEAKING OF SPORTS

by HARRY KECK
SPORTS EDITOR

I MAY be wrong, but, then, as the saying goes, if I am, you may sue me.

What I started out to say was that some persons have peculiar ideas about the human anatomy.

I was reading recently in a life story of Jack Dempsey in a magazine that in an early bout with John Lester Johnson, the Negro, in New York, the then crude Dempsey took a fearful body socking and his entire right side was reddened by Johnson's hard rights to that side.

Just how Johnson could do that, unless he got behind Dempsey and belabored him from that position, is something I'd like to have explained. When two men face each other in the ring, they hit each other on the left side with rights and on the right side with their lefts.

And then, just the other day, in one of our newspapers, I was reading about Col. Lindbergh having staved off an admirer who sought to embrace him by jabbing the admirer with his right. That was the first intimation I had that Lindy was a southpaw. It is natural to jab with the left, unless one is left-handed, and sidewheelers do not jab. They chop with their rights and swing with their lefts. Just get in front of a mirror and practice these stunts if you think I'm in error. Of course, if you're an acrobat or ambidextrous, it doesn't count.

This is a cold, hard world. And a skeptical one. I know a fellow who doesn't even believe wrestling is on the level.

ONE of the outstanding basketball players of the land is Joe Lopchick, the center of the famous New York Celtics, who (ho, hum), have just won another world title. While here over the last week-end with his team for the game with the former Morrys, he had some interesting comment to make on basketball matters in general and touched on the possibility of Pitts-

IN THE TRAINING CAMPS

NEW YORK, March 29.—(AP.)—Another famous tribe—the spitball pitchers of baseball—is rapidly becoming extinct. Now that Urban Shocker has made up his mind to moisten bank notes in a St. Louis radio shop in preference to wetting the old spheroid, the ranks of this once great galaxy of hurlers have dwindled to a mere half dozen.

Only eight years ago the major leagues decided by concurrent action to ban freak deliveries and agreed that 17 bona fide spitball pitchers then performing in the big circuits would be the only ones exempt.

Of that number the National had eight, namely, Bill Doak, Shuffling Douglas, Dana Fillingim, Ray Fisher, Marvin Goodwin, Burleigh Grimes, Clarence Mitchell and Dick Rudolph. Today, only Doak, of the Robins, Mitchell, of the Phillies, and Grimes, of the Pirates, survive.

With the passing of Shocker, of the Yankees, three of the moist ball flingers are left in the American League. When the rule was passed in 1920, there were A. W. Ayers, Ray Caldwell, Stanley Coveleskie, Urban Faber, H. B. Leonard, Jack Quinn, Allan Russell, Shocker and Allan Sothoron. Coveleskie, now battling for a regular berth with the Yankees, Faber, of the White Sox, and Quinn, of the Athletics, on the American League list. Sothoron, formerly with the Browns, is a coach with the Cardinals.

CUBS AIM TO PLUG INFIELD

LOS ANGELES, March 29.—(AP.)—Manager Joe McCarthy, of the Chicago Cubs, is determined to plug the infield hole which was blamed for allowing the National League pennant to flap away last season. With a coterie of the most brilliant minor league infielders in years already on his roster, he yesterday traded Pitcher Bob Osborne for Ray Jacobs, Los Angeles infielder.

Triumphant in their series with Pacific League clubs, the Cubs today were anxious to try their talent against last year's National League pennant winners, Pittsburgh. The teams are billed for a five-game series, starting today.

FABER SHOWS OLD FORM

SHREVEPORT, La., March 29.—(AP.)—Red Faber, veteran member of the Chicago White Sox pitching staff, seems ready for another good season in the majors. In his initial appearance of the season yesterday, Faber's spitball and curves broke as they did in the heyday of his career, and outside of a wobbly beginning he mastered the Shreveport batsmen. His mound work was taken up by "Harmonica" Goodell, a rookie, in the sixth inning and the Sox won, 11 to 6.

ROBIN VETERANS SHINE

MIAMI, Fla., March 29.—(AP.)—Skeptics who have been worrying about the condition of the star moundsmen of the Robins breathed easier today as a result of the sparkling form displayed by Robby's two aces, Vance and Petty. The potent bats of the Braves, which shelled the Yankees to cover, were silenced to a lone bingle yesterday as the flock took off the opener of a four-game series by 5 to 0.

TIGERS TAKE UP BUNTING

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 29.—(AP.)—The science of bunting, which slumped with the advent of the lively baseball is on the road to revival in the Detroit Tigers' camp here. Manager Moriarty has ordered his crew of sluggers to get in at least one hour bunting practice each day with particular stress to be placed on the long drag bunt.

Motor Sq. Card is Filled

THE Motor Square Garden boxing card for next Monday night was completed this morning by Matchmaker John L. Hernon. It consists of five bouts, two eight-rounders, two sixes and one four.

Rudy Ceder and Jack Katkish will meet in the windup, which is expected to be a repetition of their recent knockdown battle in the same ring, and Jack McFarland of Wilkinsburg and Joe Elrene of the North Side, featherweights, will clash in the semi-final.

Young Rudy and Sig Keppen will box the main six-rounder and Joe Lauder of the South Hills and Jack Unglo of Etna will meet in the first bout over that route. Tony Azzara of the East End and Eddie Schuster of Sharpsburg will box the four-round curtain-raiser.

Phil Scello, of McKeesport, was to box Larry Brignolia in the Motor Square semi-final, but was injured in an automobile accident returning from Altoona, where he knocked out Harry Taylor in seven rounds last Monday night. He was cut on the neck, one arm and an ear and will not be able to box for a few weeks.

WILL MAKE OLYMPIC BID ON SUNDAY

By TOM BIRKS.

THE Western Pennsylvania Olympic soccer candidate, Heidelberg, will leave Friday evening at 9:05 o'clock for St. Louis over the Pennsylvania Railroad, President Fairfield announced last night. A special stop will be made by the flyer at Carnegie to pick up the members of the Heidelberg team, which practically constitutes the entire personnel of the team.

Previous arrangements had been made for the club to leave at 5 p. m. on Saturday, but special instructions came from the Mound City officials that led to the change.

So all members of the Heidelberg team together with Dave Matthews and Henderson should take note of the new arrangements and act accordingly.

It is reported that Buff Donnelli will be in shape for the game. The star from Duquesne University severely wrenched his arm in the Pittsburgh game last Sunday and had to be helped from the field. However, the injured member has come along all right and Buff is expected to lead the attack.

Western Pennsylvania followers of soccer are pulling hard for the green and gold tornado to be in tiptop shape for this battle. If there is one game that Western Pennsylvania should win this is the one. For many years it has been a boast of St. Louis fans that typical American soccer has only one home, that being St. Louis. Well, the Mound City representatives had a tough time beating Chicago last week and here's hoping Heidelberg is in form. What a time that Missouri defense will have.

The action of reinstating the Washington County League came at the right moment. But, of the worst decisions ever handed down by any soccer tribunal came in the Celtics case, together with the wholesale suspension of the Washington County League. Of course, nothing in a soccer way will be attempted around Avella this season and with conditions very bad, but there is a chance that the old loop will be functioning by fall.

The appeals committee of the national body must have got quite a kick out of the recent cases from this district. A few learned soccer men are connected with that august body, and they must be wondering what kind of sport is running around this neck of the woods.

BERLENBACHS DIVORCED

MEXICO CITY, March 29.—(AP.)—El Universal today said that Paul Berlenbach, former light-heavyweight boxing champion, had obtained a divorce through the courts at Cuernavaca, State of Morelos.

The divorce suit was filed there some time ago by an American named H. E. Grace, a Mexico City resident, who has assisted in obtaining divorces for many foreigners. The fighter's signature was required for the final petition. Berlenbach came here Tuesday night and left Wednesday after signing the papers and the divorce was granted.

Berlenbach, whose home is in New York, married Rose Anne Riley in Los Angeles last April. Suit for separation was started in January, but the couple were reconciled in the office of the boxer's attorney in New York and sailed for Havana on a second honeymoon on January 21.

Berlenbach suddenly appeared in New York on February 9, and his wife went to Los Angeles. He announced that the second honeymoon had been cut short by the illness of Mrs. Berlenbach's mother.

Out-of-Town Stars Enter A.D.C. Classic

HILARY E. WERTZ, manager of the American Duckpin Congress tournament committee, doesn't know whether to laugh or to cry.

"You see, it's this way," he said this morning. "The A. D. C. is primarily a Pittsburgh organization and its tournament was arranged with this idea in view, to get a good foothold here first and then extend. Of course, we wanted the bowlers of Western Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio and West Virginia with us, but we didn't expect we'd get them until after we had sold our new organization and new system of money division to the local bowlers.

"But if the entries already received for the tourney, which begins April 9, may be taken as a criterion, the idea has gone over big in the surrounding territory and has been slow on the uptake here. I find that a rather large majority of the teams already in are out-of-towners. Maybe it means that the visiting bowlers are trapshooters, too, and appreciate just what the modified Lewis class system means in distributing prize money.

"This system assures every bowler, whether good, bad or indifferent, of competing for prizes against bowlers of equal ability. It's a case of wolf eat wolf at the top in Class A, and in classes B, C and D the less able rollers fight it out for cash with teams of equal ability.

"And now if we had the same proportion of Pittsburgh duckpin rollers entered as we have from all parts of this end of the state, from Wheeling, Cleveland, Cincinnati, etc., we'd have 10,000 individuals rolling next month.

"But I suppose the local bowlers are waiting to the last minute to get in their entries. We'll receive them at the American Duckpin Congress office, at 923 Fulton Building, until 6 p. m. Saturday."

burgh supporting a team in the American League. He thinks this town should be ripe for a berth soon, and he's right. A lot of good basketball players and fans have been developed here in recent seasons and there should be sufficient talent and support to give Pittsburgh a fine representative team. The former Morrys, now the McKeesport Cyclers, as they stand, could furnish many of the teams in the big league plenty of competition, and, properly promoted, I think a big team could be put over here. With hockey on the toboggan, such a team would fill a gap in the winter sports program. Now would be a good time to begin planning for the next floor season with such an object in view.

KANSAS CITY, March 29.—(AP.)—Drawing a wide open split in the tenth frame of his last game, George Peplinski of Erie, Pa., was deprived of a chance to grasp the leadership in the singles event at the American Bowling Congress last night. He rolled games of 248, 230, 218, giving him 690, and a grip on third place.

Henry Schmidt of Chicago holds the lead in the singles with 702. Bork, another Chicagoan, is second with 697.

The high score in the doubles in competition was made by G. Wiehl and F. Nash of Coffeyville, Kan. Nash, a lefthander, rolled 661 and Wiehl 589, for a team score of 1250, which failed to get them in the first 10.

Frank Snyder and Mike Flick of Erie, Pa., who rolled 1317 to win the A. B. C. doubles championship last year, could not hit their stride in this event, scoring only 1219, not high enough to disturb the leaders.

Several changes in the leaders were recorded in the first annual duckpin tournament being staged by the Nuss brothers in Homestead. The H. K. Nielson team, of the South Side, took first place in the five-men event with a score of 2,423. This team is composed of Henn, Beach, Draper, Messner and Wenz.

Zorn and Terreyson took first place in the doubles as a result of turning in 1,097 last night. A Fonas and J. Fonas, of Homestead, moved into second place with 1,066.

In the singles Beach, of the South Side, bowled 593 to move into second place. Beach was only two pins shy of equaling the score of A. Renquist, the leader, who scored 595.

The third annual Harry Davis sweepstakes, to be conducted by the Harry Davis Enterprises on the Club alleys, April 9 to 21, has attracted more out-of-town entries than in previous years. Entries have been received from Connellsville, Brownsville, Uniontown, Greensburg, Butler and other towns, as well as a large number from Pittsburgh. The first prize for men is $150, and for women $50. There are other cash and novelty prizes, one of which is a diamond stickpin. Entries should be mailed to George Schmitt, care of Fidelity Title and Trust Company.

Robert Carter went into a tie with Billy Greenwood for first place in the local three-cushion billiard league last night by defeating the latter, 45 to 25, at Kalmer's.

The following scores have been rolled to date in the Carrick Eagles' tenpin tournament:

NEW YORK, March 29.—(INS.)—Willie Hoppe today has regained the lead in his special 600-point three-cushion billiard match with Gus Copulos, of Detroit.

Hoppe ran away with the fifth block, 52 to 28. Although Copulos took the sixth block, 53 to 50, Hoppe's total score is 300 to 253 for Copulos.

Hoppe made a high run of eight and Copulos reeled off two sevens.

SANDLOT BASEBALL

THE City League last night completed plans for the opening of the 1928 schedule. The members adopted the by-laws and selected an arbitration board to consist of Max Hannum, Jack Sell, Gene Boyle, Dan B. Dougherty and the writer.

The City League will be an eight-club circuit, including the North Side Civics, Reliance Life, Book Shoe, J. L. Thomas Club, St. Johns', Stowe Civics, Hermes-Groves and Pleasant Valley.

Dan B. Dougherty last night was chosen president of the newly formed West Penn Umpires' Association. The new organization has 32 members. Barney Givens was named vice president, Dan Brickley secretary and Wesley McPherson treasurer. The new organization denied that plans were under way to increase the fee for umpire service.

The personnel of the Homestead Grays' baseball club is undergoing a decided change and there will be several new faces in Grays' uniforms this year. Five of the reliables who were with the club last season will not be signed for 1928, all of which means that Red Ryan, pitcher; Charles Spearman, catcher; Willie Gray, center fielder; Orville Riggins, third baseman, and Bobby Williams, shortstop, will be missing. Posey has signed two of the new players to contracts. John Beckwith, as previously announced, will cavort at third base, and yesterday "Fats" Jenkins, for the past three years middle fielder of the Harrisburg club, turned in his signed document.

ALLAND FIELD CLUB TO SPONSOR ARCHERY

Archery is to be added to the many sports already contemplated by the new Alland Field Club, which is to be located near Murraysville on the William Penn Highway.

Kid Williams, Broke, Jailed In Beer Case

BALTIMORE, March 29.—(INS.)—John Gutenko, who a few years ago was idolized by ring followers as Kid Williams, the bantamweight champion of the world, reposed in a Baltimore jail today. He was committed for illegal possession of six cases of beer and not having the $250 to pay the fine imposed.

His attorney told the court that the once wealthy and popular kid was "practically penniless." Not many years ago the Kid had a fortune of $300,000, made out of the rang and some investments. Now he is broke and his fighting days are over.

players were folding up all about him.

LYNN LARY and Jimmy Reese found the slants of Miljus and Hill too elusive. The crack shortstop was fanned three times. Neither Lary nor Reese was able to hit his way to first base. Lary appears to be a wonder worker around the short field. But if Glenn Wright were to keep the form he is in now, the Missourian would be far out of the class of Lary and every league shortstop, with the exception of Travis Jackson. Wright can show them all a lesson in smashing the ball to the fence.

KIKI CUYLER seems to be a distinctive sensation in the Cub battles. The fleetfooted slugger has been hitting the ball hard and often. He has two real slugging mates near him in Hack Wilson and Riggs Stephenson, not to mention Lefty Grimm and Leo Hartnett.

POOCH BARNHART continues to shine with that perfect poised bat. The Pennsylvania Dutchman never had a press agent outside of his favored hickories. These, however, have stood by him through thick and thin.

EDDIE MULLIGAN spent most of yesterday morning in packing his household goods. When Eddie left San Francisco with the Pirates he was accompanied by his wife and baby. Mrs. Mulligan probably will remain at her home in St. Louis until her husband has found a temporary home in Pittsburgh.

EDDIE worked out with the Pirates in the long session that preceded the last game. He is a fielder of the Chuck Deal type. The new Pirate handles hot drives with consummate grace. Mulligan has done the shortstop trick and will be available for both positions on the left side in the Pirate scheme.

SPORT COMMENT

by JAMES J. LONG

regularly during the five-day period when the Freebooters were idle on account of rain in San Francisco and Oakland.

THOSE defeats at the hands of the Seals and the Oaks, while they looked on paper like signs of Pirate weaknesses, were in reality nothing of the sort.

Consider the San Francisco games, in particular. The Rovers did not show anything like their true form and must not be judged by the results.

Kiki Cuyler.

Not only did Manager Bush keep his first-string pitchers out of those events, using the games as an opportunity of passing final judgment on his young hurlers, but it is learned from a reliable source in the Pirate camp that the San Francisco grounds were in such poor condition this spring that the Pittsburgh infielders were ordered not to take any chances in order to escape being crippled by badly-bounding balls.

"THE result was," a veteran Pirate writes, "that the Seals piled up hits every day on batted balls that ordinarily would have been outs.

"Even the kids, who usually are eager to tackle anything, did not want to come in off the grass for batted balls. They realized that they were apt to get them in their faces instead of in their hands at almost any time."

THE time lost by the Buccaneers on account of rain is not likely to have the serious effects that seem to be feared in some quarters. Don't forget that they were working like beavers during the greater part of their stay in Paso Robles. It is safe to conclude that they were so far advanced toward fitness when they left there, that the recent idle spell could hardly throw them back to any serious extent.

Besides, the season is not going to open until 13 more days have elapsed, and the Bucs will have an opportunity in that period to put in many more good licks.

AN interesting feature of the Pirate-Cub series will be the chance afforded to compare the value of Kiki Cuyler to the Cubs with the worth of Sparky Adams to the Picaroons, and to note how Cuyler's hitting against Pittsburgh's first-string pitchers will compare with the tall slugging he did in the Bruins' recent practice games.

It remains to be seen whether Kiki will be able to continue pounding out home runs and other extra-base hits against Grimes, Miljus, Hill and Kremer, even though Bush's regular boxmen have not been getting a lot of practice of late.

BESIDES, brilliant as Cuyler's work has been, it has been no more dazzling than the brand of ball that Adams has been putting up for the Forbes Field outfit.

Bill Haeffner.

The little fellow's playing, in fact, has been the feature of the Pittsburgh club's trip so far, and aside from his individual record, Sparky has proved of immeasurable added worth to the Pittsburgh club by the way he has speeded up things around the keystone until he and Glenn Wright form the best double-play combination the locals have had at the midway in a long time.

AND in contending that Adams has done as much for the Buccaneers as Cuyler has done for the Cubs, the additional value of Pete Scott is not taken into account. That is quite an item in itself.

In fact, Pete has done so well that he is rated as being sure to help the team. If he does not fit in as a catcher he will be valuable as an outfielder, but right now it must be said that Pete has looked so promising as a catcher that it is practically certain he and Ralston Hemsley will be retained in that department, and that Bill Haeffner and Claude Linton will be dropped.

Haeffner evidently has been out of the game too long to come back and appears not to have a chance to stick, while Linton needs another year in the minors before he can be considered.

PITTSBURGH'S second and final game against the Rangers in the first of the hockey play-off series in New York will take place tonight, but it looks like a forlorn hope to figure on even a remote chance for Pirate success.

Hib Milks.

Total goals are to decide the series, and with the count now 4 to 0 in New York's favor there appears to be no possibility of Worters, Milks & Co. overtaking their opponents.

Had one of the games been played in Pittsburgh, as it should have been, the result might have been different, but the unsportsmanlike transfer of the event to the enemy's ice made it a hopeless case. It not only put the Bucs under too great a handicap, but just about killed their spirit besides.

DUQUESNE LIGHT OUT TO CLINCH LAURELS

Duquesne Light, winner in the first game over P. & L. E. R. R. of the post-season series to decide the Commercial and Industrial League, has all plans laid to take the second and deciding game tonight when they again meet in the South Side Market House.

Not in the least disheartened over their poor start, the Railroaders are confident they can come back just as they did in the second half of the race a number of times.

The Windsor Club, first half winner, and the Alumni Club, second half winner in the Major League, meet tonight in the preliminary in the first of a three-game series to decide the league championship.

A change has been made in the card at Washington, Pa., for next Monday night. Teddy Welch of McKeesport taking the place of Steve O'Malley of Bellaire, O., against Battling Spinello in the 10-round windup. O'Malley wrenched a knee in training and had to cancel the match.

James (Red) Mason left last night for Hot Springs, Ark., where he will remain for three weeks. He will join Cuddy DeMarco who has been at the Spa more than a week and will box there shortly.

pleasing afternoon putting a joyful kick into the Easterners, who used their bats beautifully in discharging their pent-up energy.

The impressive pitching of John Miljus with the clean hitting of the Pirates for the feature of the game.

Serbian John shut the door in the faces of the Coast League champion the last four rounds of the battle. "It was too bad" for the Acorns when the former Penn Avenue youth entered the fray. Miljus relieved Carmen Hill who had quite a lot of stuff in five rounds, but who was solved quite frequently by the Oaks.

Buckshot Wright led the thundering attack of the Bushwhackers whose safe blows totalled 17. Glenn walloped out the only homer of the game, his round-tripper sailing high and far over the distant left field fence. It was a real sock. The Spread Eagle Shortstop rapped out a double and two singles for good measure. Capt. Traynor and Pooch Barnhart each connected for a trio of safeties.

Manager Ivan Howard of the Oaks used three righthanded pitchers in an attempt to check the Buccos who surely were on a rampage. Ault, Gould and Craghead each had a tussle with the Big Leaguers.

Irish Meusel and Jimmy Caveney, former major league stars, were the punch of the home team. Meusel connected for three hits and Caveney reached Hill for a pair of safe smashes.

tonight. The task confronting the world champions, while a sturdy one, is not near as great as that before the underdogs in the American division, the Pirates.

The Rangers will be unable to use their home ice in the finals if they do get that far, for the circus will move into the Garden April 5, the date on which the series for the Stanley Cup between the rival group winners is scheduled to begin.

BOOSTERS TO MEET

Forbes

Many Industrial Concerns Selecting New Presidents.

By B. C. FORBES

NOT one of America's 20 leading industrial organizations has today the same president as it had in 1905.

Only three of them have the same president now they had in 1915.

Even in the last five years there have been nine changes among the 20.

As shown in yesterday's column, 10 of our 20 principal railroads have elected new presidents within the last five years.

Mortality among top-notch executives last year was unusually heavy.

AMONG our notable industrial corporation presidents 23 years ago were John D. Rockefeller, of Standard Oil; George Westinghouse, of Westinghouse Electric; James B. Duke, of American Tobacco; W. O. Havemeyer, of American Sugar; Frederick Ayer, of American Woolen; Charles M. Schwab, of Bethlehem Steel; William E. Corey, of U. S. Steel; Samuel P. Colt, of U. S. Rubber; Cyrus H. McCormick, of International Harvester, and, a little later, W. C. Durant, of General Motors.

WITHIN the last five years the following have been elected presidents of their corporations: A. P. Sloan, Jr., General Motors; Walter S. Gifford, American Telephone and Telegraph; W. E. Foster, American Sugar; George S. Hill, American Tobacco; Gen. R. E. Wood, Sears-Roebuck; H. S. Brown, Central Leather; H. W. Phelps, American Can; R. W. Leigh, American Beet Sugar; Victor M. Cutter, United Fruit; William C. Stuber, Eastman Kodak; E. G. Wilmer, Dodge Brothers; R. C. Holmes, Texas Company; Edgar S. Bloom, Western Electric; R. H. Ballard, Southern California Edison; A. F. Hockenbeamer, Pacific Gas and Electric; J. D. Tew, B. F. Goodrich; James S. McCulloh, New York Telephone; William S. Knudsen, Chevrolet; F. Edson White, Armour & Company; E. E. Shumaker, Victor Talking Machine; J. J. O'Brien, H. M. Byllesby; Edward F. Carry, Pullman Company.

Also, Theodore F. Merseles, Johns-Manville; P. W. Seiler, Yellow Truck and Coach; Sidney W. Winslow, Jr., United Shoe Machinery; Saunders Norvell, Remington Arms; Nicholas M. Schenck, Loew's; Clifford B. Hawley, First National Pictures; D. F. Houston, Mutual Life Assurance; C. W. Toms, Liggett & Myers Tobacco; T. I. Parkinson, Equitable Life Assurance; E. T. Strong, Buick; A. W. Thompson, United Gas Improvement; Samuel Insull, Midland Utilities; P. W. Litchfield, Goodyear Tire and Rubber; Carl F. Danna, American Hide and Leather; H. F. Black, George A. Fuller Company; H. L. McClaren, Ajax Rubber; W. H. Woodin, American Locomotive; Irving Rossheim, Stanley Company.

NEW blood has come to the front equally prominently in the financial world. Only the other day a 35-year-old comer, Robert L. Clarkson, was elected president of the second largest financial institution in America, the Chase National Bank of New York, and it is only a few years since Charles E. Mitchell (now 50), was elected president of the billion-and-a-half dollar National City Bank of New York.

The United States Steel Corporation's new chairman of the board, J. P. Morgan, does not devote much more time to the affairs of the corporation than he did as an ordinary member of the finance committee. Pierre Dupont, chairman of General Motors, is not half as active as he was when president. On the other hand, Owen D. Young is very much on the job as chairman of General Electric.

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, March 29.—There was no change or sales in the raw sugar market early today with spot Cuban quoted at 4.61c duty paid.

Reports that the Cuban export committee had sold 50,000 tons of sugar out of the 200,000 tons in reserve there to countries outside of the United States at prices ranging from 2.70½c to 2.71c f. o. b. Cuba, may have accounted for a little covering at the opening of the raw sugar futures market and first prices were from 1 point advance to 1 point decline. The demand was soon supplied, however, and prices weakened later under liquidation and selling by Cuban and European interests, and at midday were 1 to 5 points net lower. The selling was in part due to hedging against the purchases of the 50,000 tons, and to the estimate of a larger beet sugar acreage abroad. A prominent European authority estimated the beet sugar sowings in Europe at 2,577,000 hectares, against last year's acreage of 2,523,000 hectares, with the principal increase in Russia.

The refined sugar market continued quiet with prices unchanged at 5.80c to 5.85c for fine granulated and second hands still available at 5.75c.

MAGEE OPENS CAMPAIGN

James A. Magee, candidate for the Republican nomination to Congress in the Thirty-Fifth District, formally opened his campaign today with the first of a series of noon meetings in his headquarters, Plaza Building.

"I hope," Magee told an audience that gathered to hear him, "to be elected and to give the people of my district the same kind of service I gave in my previous activities in Congress. The citizens elect their representative, not to be a ruler over them, but for them. I hope to be just that."

At Friday's meeting John S. Herron, of the Thirteenth Ward, will be chairman.

POLICEMAN, RETIRING, TENDERED BANQUET

John Tate, retired after 20 years on the police force, was on parade today. He displayed a gold watch and chain presented to him last night at a testimonial dinner at the Forty-third Street station, on behalf of his fellow patrolmen, by Assistant Superintendent Leo Coleman. Tate, 59, was well known among children at Lawrence Park, where he had been stationed the last few years.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

Sugar, Anaconda Up.

Trading interest switched to the coppers and, in a measure, to the sugar group today. Efforts were concentrated on American Sugar and Anaconda, both of which were pushed up steadily to new high levels for recent trading. In both cases, the bulls were aided by better reports from the trade where higher prices were noted for refined sugar and for copper metal. Each stands at the head of its industry and while Sugar recently passed its common dividend, there is every likelihood that the stock will be restored to a dividend basis as soon as conditions permit. Omission of the last payment was an ultra-conservative movement, in the opinions of many observers, and some of them have ventured the suggestion that the company, when it does attain the stability it has been striving for the past few years, will recompense the shareholders. Anaconda, owning American Brass Company, is the most complete metal concern in the world and has demonstrated an earning power which should shortly mean an increase in the dividend rate, which has been $3 annually for some time.

Metal Market Active.

Heavy trading in copper featured the non-ferrous metal market the last week, sales of the red metal exceeding those of any week since that of December 5, 1926, Engineering and Mining Journal reports. Virtually all sellers have advanced their asking prices to the basis of 14.25 cents a pound, delivered in the East. Demand for lead also has increased, with prices firmer. Trading in zinc and tin was quiet.

GMO Split Rumored.

The Street heard today, from interests "close to the management" of General Motors that there will be a two-for-one split-up of the common stock and a payment of a $2 extra on the present shares when the directors meet in May. Should this split-up take place, it will place General Motors at the head of the list in point of number of shares outstanding. Doubling the present 17,400,000 shares will put almost 35,000,000 shares on the market, or about 10,000,000 more than the present number of Standard Oil of New Jersey shares outstanding. Present General Motors common has a par value of $25. Total authorized common is 30,000,000 shares, which would indicate that a capital change would be necessary to double the present outstanding stock.

Apply for Listing Here.

Applications have been received by the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange to list 150,000 common shares of Petroleum Exploration, an organization operating in West Virginia, and 120,000 shares of the Wiser Oil Company, an allied concern. Shares in each case are of $25 par value. E. A. Durham is president of both companies.

American Sheet at 92 Per Cent.

The American Sheet and Tinplate Company, due to increased orders, has advanced operations to a 92 per cent basis. Some of the plants are working full, as are some of the independents. Tinplate price is unchanged at $5.25 per base box.

Duquesne Light Earnings Gain.

The Duquesne Light Company report for the year ended December 31, 1927, shows net income of $9,041,637, compared with $6,976,532 in the preceding year. Net operating revenues amounted to $25,723,366, against $24,293,324 in 1926. Operating expenses maintenance and taxes before provision for retirement reserve for 1927 amounted to $12,001,083, against $12,973,293, and net revenue from operation amounted to $13,727,283, an increase of $2,400,241.

Salt Creek Producers.

The Salt Creek Producers' Association reports for the year 1927 consolidated net income of $3,221,245 after charges, but before depreciation and Federal taxes, equal to $2.22 a share on 1,446,059 capital shares—$10 par—outstanding, against $5,181,436 in 1926.

Brokers Want Shorter Week.

A movement is under way for establishment of the five-day week on the New York Stock Exchange. Brokers say the pace of the markets is "killing." Their bookkeepers, they say, are hardly able to cope with the situation—"working day and night."

A revised stock exchange ticker, capable of handling 4,000,000-share markets, is in the making, according to reports in the "Street."

Beaverboard-Certain-teed.

Legal obstacles to the consummation of the sale of the assets of the Beaver Board Company to Certain-teed Products Corporation have been eliminated, according to reports from Chicago. Transfer of Beaver Board to Certain-teed is now expected to take place Saturday.

Fageol Motors Shows Gain.

Fageol Motors Company reports net earnings for year 1927 were $94,610 after all charges and preferred dividend, equal to 47 cents a share on the 200,000 shares of $10 par common stock outstanding, compared with earnings of 16 cents a share in 1926. The company specializes in motor coaches.

National Tube Gets Big Order.

Standard Oil Company of California has bought 200 miles of eight-inch pipe, about 15,000 tons, from National Tube Company, for a line from Pecos county to El Paso, Tex.

Otis Elevator Earned $12.16.

Otis Elevator Company earned $12.14 a share on 432,181 shares of common stock in 1927 against $13.56 a share on 342,003 shares in 1926.

Pennsylvania Railroad.

The 12½ per cent stock allotment ordered by the Pennsylvania Railroad directors yesterday, the first action of the kind since 1923, will increase the total outstanding stock of the company to $550,000,000, and total obligations, including equipment trust certificates, will be $555,000,000. The rights to purchase the additional stock at par ($50) will accrue to holders of record April 14, the owner of eight shares being entitled to purchase one additional share at the $50. Market observers expressed the opinion that there were more important developments at yesterday's meeting than the decision to offer new stock, although there were no official intimations of other developments. One rumor was that the P. R. R. would make an offer for Lehigh Valley and Wabash holdings of L. F. Loree and thereby settle the Eastern merger question, but there were several arguments in opposition to this possibility, the principal one being that Loree is not one to be rubbed off the slate so easily, especially in view of the time and effort he has spent in furtherance of his "Fifth Trunk Line" idea. His Southwest merger is now before the Interstate Commerce Commission and it is thought he will now devote more attention to his affairs in the East.

Curtis Refunding.

Curtiss Aeroplane and Motor Company has called for redemption on June 6 its outstanding 25,231 shares of 7 per cent preferred at $141.50 a share and accrued dividends. To provide funds, the company will offer 72,688 shares of additional common stock to holders of record April 9, in the ratio of one share of new common for each three shares of old common, at $52 a share. Rights to subscribe expire May 10. The Curtiss Aeroplane Export Company declared a quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent on the preferred payable April 15.

Humble Hits at Sugarland.

Humble Oil and Refining Company has completed its "wildcat" test on lands of the Sugarland Industries, Sugarland Dome, Fort Bend county, Texas, for 500 barrels of 26 gravity crude oil and 1,500,000 cubic feet of gas from 3,556 feet. This is the first test drilled on the Dome, which was discovered last fall.

Warner Brothers Pictures.

Net profit of Warner Bros. Pictures in the second quarter, ended March 1, was approximately $599,000 or roughly $2.50 a share on 199,950 shares of Class A stock outstanding. This compares with $102,567 earned in the first quarter of the fiscal year. It is expected that profits for the third and fourth quarters will be somewhat less since they include the summer months.

Sears Roebuck Dividends.

The Wall Street Journal learns there has been absolutely no change in Sears Roebuck's dividend outlook since it stated at end of January in an article reviewing 1927 annual report that "for the present, because of recent sudden change in management, it is doubtful if any change in dividend policy will be formulated." Sears' present dividend rate of $2.50 a share requires $10,500,000 annually. Last year surplus after dividends was $14,550,000, of which about $12,000,000 was required for expansion of plant facilities.

Mellon Discounts Gold Export.

Secretary Mellon sees no significance in the gold movement from the United States to foreign countries and from foreign countries to the United States, he said today. Gold shipments are in the regular course of business, he said, and although they do not indicate that France expects to return to a gold standard, such a decision is expected to be reached there following the elections.

Tax Cut Outlook.

Treasury receipts for March collections have not been heavier than expected by officials, Secretary Mellon said. Consequently, he declared, the recommendations for a tax reduction larger than that sponsored by President Coolidge, $225,000,000, could not be supported by the administration. It was again stressed that Congress must "hold down" in its expenditures if the Administration's tax reduction program is to be carried through.

Seminole Output Lower.

The Seminole area for 24 hours ended at 7 a. m. today produced 244,662 barrels of crude oil against 251,524 Wednesday and a peak of 527,400 barrels on July 30, 1927. This is the lowest production since February 11, 1927, when 244,000 barrels were turned out.

Pittsburgh Coal Production.

Pittsburgh Coal Company reports 153,764 tons of coal mined in the Pittsburgh district for week ended March 17, compared with 154,959 tons during week ended March 10.

Burlington's Net Jumps.

Large earnings for February are reported by the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, net operating income jumping to $3,226,930 from $2,264,624 in February, 1927, and for the two months of 1928 to $5,899,287 from $4,191,593 a year ago. February gross was $12,313,506 against $11,659,922 last year.

The Texas and Pacific had better earnings in February than a year ago, gross revenues rising to $3,747,420 from $3,614,282 and net operating income to $644,571 from $460,861. Net for the first two months this year was $1,244,103 against $815,091 in the same period of 1927.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, March 29.—The cotton market opened steady today at an advance of 2 to 4 points on the steady showing of Liverpool and prospects for showers in the eastern and central belts. Demand was limited, however, and prices soon eased under liquidation, coupled with local selling, accompanied by rumors of slightly freer spot offerings in some sections of the belt.

July contracts eased off from 19.30c to 19.21c, active months showing net losses of about 3 to 4 points at the end of the first hour.

Private cables said there had been trade calling in the Liverpool market, with some buying on the steadier showing of Egyptian cotton, also fair business in cotton cloths for the home trade and South America.

The market steadied later on covering prices, showing rallies of 6 or 8 points from the early low levels, but buying was limited and the bulge was not fully maintained. Trading was quiet and much of it was attributed to further switching from near to late months. At midday July was selling around 19.24c, with the general market about net unchanged to 4 points higher.

NARROW PRICE MOVEMENTS IN MARKET HERE

STOCK MARKET MOVEMENTS CONFUSED

NEW YORK, March 29.—(AP.)—Confused price movements characterized today's stock market but the advantage rested on the side of those working for higher prices. Stiffening money rates and the prospect of a large increase in Federal Reserve brokers' loans after the close of the market led to extensive profit-taking and bear selling in some of the recent favorites, but new leaders were brought forward in the electric, public utility, tobacco and copper groups. Trading showed a further slowing up in volume.

There was little in the day's news to influence the price movement. Operators for the rise found encouragement in Secretary Mellon's statement that the gold export movement was NOT likely to disturb credit conditions. Time money was advanced to a flat 4¾ per cent basis today instead of 4½ to 4¾ in reflection of the heavy month-end demand for funds.

Consolidated Gas and Brooklyn Edison led the upswing in public utilities, soaring 5⅛ and 5 points respectively to new high records. General Electric moved up more than 3 points to a new top and Westinghouse Electric followed in its wake. Copper shares responded to reports of expanding sales in stiffening red metal prices, Greene Cananea jumping 5 points and Anaconda 2. Dunhill International Hayuk Cigars, Davison Chemical and International Telephone recorded good gains. Radio rallied from a low of 168 to 173½ and then slipped back to around 171. General Motors after selling down to 182½ rallied to around 185.

Western rails pointed upward in the afternoon trading with Union Pacific, Chicago Northwestern and Great Northern preferred in brisk demand. Some heaviness had developed earlier in New York Central, Chesapeake and Ohio and Texas and Pacific.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, March 29.—Highest prices on the crop were reached in some cases today by wheat, with September delivery in the lead and being purchased by foreigners. The chief bullish factor was the crop outlook in central sections of domestic winter wheat territory and reported deficiency of sub-soil moisture southwest. Opening unchanged to 1⅛c up, wheat later held near to initial limits. Corn, oats and provisions were also firmer, corn starting unchanged to ⅜c higher and subsequently showing a slight general advance.

At noon wheat was ⅝c to 1⅝c net higher and corn up ⅛c to 1c.

Advances in wheat prices today were ascribed chiefly to disclosure of what was referred to in some quarters as a calamitous condition for the growing crop in the central wheat belt. Talk was also current that constant rains and other favoring circumstances are essential to make a good crop southwest. It was likewise asserted that better export demand for wheat from North America was in evidence.

Profit taking sales, however, on advances in the wheat market today were on a large scale. Much of this selling to realize profits was readily taken.

LONE STAR GAS IS QUIET

Securities on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange continued to work in a narrow range today with the volume of business showing further contraction. The forenoon market was confined to only a half dozen or so stocks with most of the transactions being for odd lots, or less than 100 shares.

Lone Star Gas was quiet, reflecting to some extent the halting tendency displayed by the oil and gas issues on the New York board. The stock held steady, however, and changed hands only a fraction away from the best figure of the previous session. Standard Sanitary was steady at around 33½, but demand for the issue was thin and buyers were not inclined to bid actively for the shares. A few trades in Armstrong Cork were recorded at 64 to 65, and Carnegie Metals was dull despite the upturn in the metal and mining issues in the New York market.

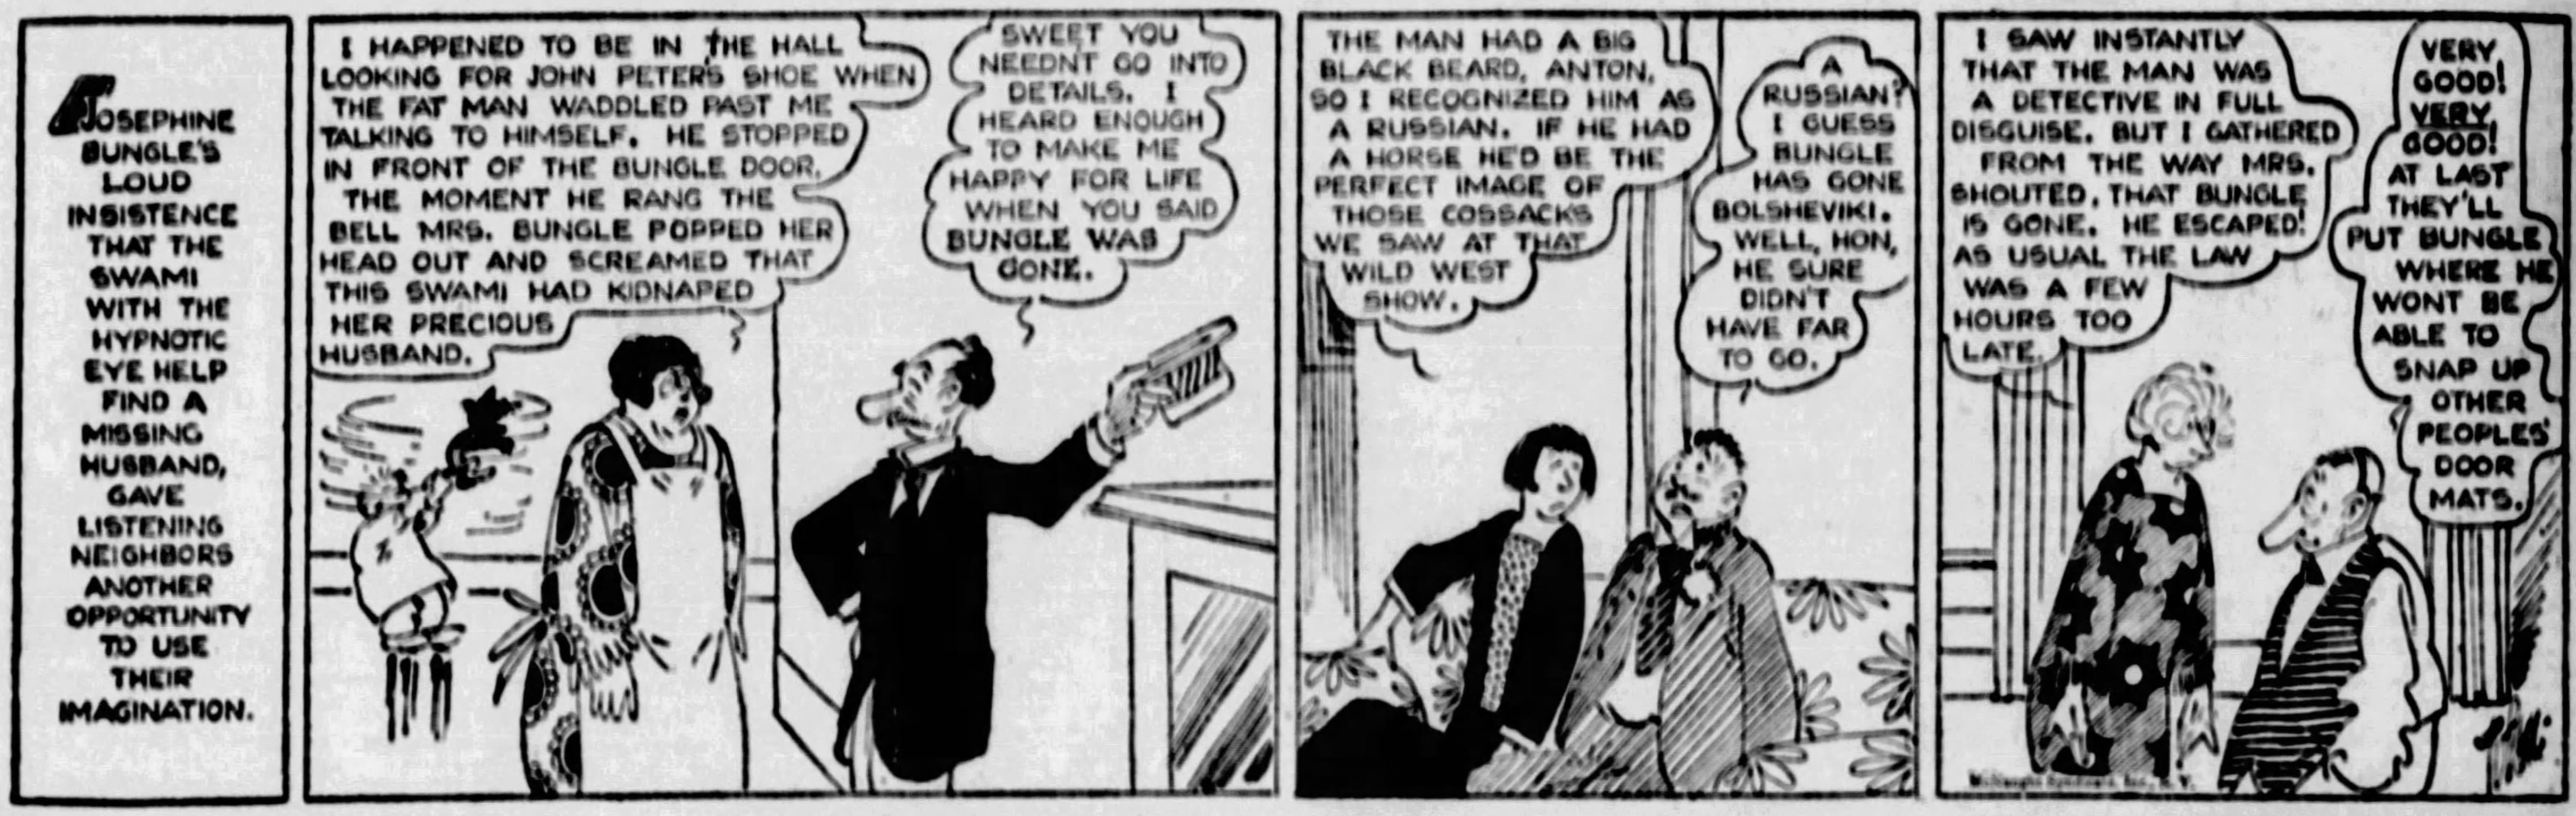
THE BUNGLE FAMILY

Neighborly Guesses



JOSEPHINE BUNGLE'S LOUD INSISTENCE THAT THE SWAMI WITH THE HYPNOTIC EYE HELP FIND A MISSING HUSBAND, GAVE LISTENING NEIGHBORS ANOTHER OPPORTUNITY TO USE THEIR IMAGINATION.
I HAPPENED TO BE IN THE HALL LOOKING FOR JOHN PETER'S SHOE WHEN THE FAT MAN WADDLED PAST ME TALKING TO HIMSELF. HE STOPPED IN FRONT OF THE BUNGLE DOOR. THE MOMENT HE RANG THE BELL MRS. BUNGLE POPPED HER HEAD OUT AND SCREAMED THAT THIS SWAMI HAD KIDNAPED HER PRECIOUS HUSBAND.
SWEET YOU NEEDN'T GO INTO DETAILS. I HEARD ENOUGH TO MAKE ME HAPPY FOR LIFE WHEN YOU SAID BUNGLE WAS GONE.
THE MAN HAD A BIG BLACK BEARD, ANTON, SO I RECOGNIZED HIM AS A RUSSIAN. IF HE HAD A HORSE HE'D BE THE PERFECT IMAGE OF THOSE COSSACKS WE SAW AT THAT WILD WEST SHOW.
A RUSSIAN? I GUESS BUNGLE HAS GONE BOLSHEVIKI. WELL, HON, HE SURE DIDN'T HAVE FAR TO GO.
I SAW INSTANTLY THAT THE MAN WAS A DETECTIVE IN FULL DISGUISE. BUT I GATHERED FROM THE WAY MRS. SHOUTED, THAT BUNGLE IS GONE. HE ESCAPED! AS USUAL THE LAW WAS A FEW HOURS TOO LATE.
VERY GOOD! VERY GOOD! AT LAST THEY'LL PUT BUNGLE WHERE HE WONT BE ABLE TO SNAP UP OTHER PEOPLES' DOOR MATS.

THIS WAGGISH WORLD

by Roy K. Moulton

HAVE YOU A RESERVATION?

IN the old days in this country nobody had any reservations but the Indians. You could go into a quick lunch wagon and occupy a stool without making previous arrangements. You could even drop in and see a dentist without letting him know eight weeks in advance that you intended to have a toothache on a certain date.

This reservation business has been caused by specialization in professions, efficiency and other forms of modern urge. The art of specialization has about reached the peak. For instance, there is a chiropodist down town who has with him 10 toe specialists. Any third-toe, left-foot man who operates on a third-toe right foot, loses his card in the union.

The prospective patient calls up:

"Hello, is this Syntax 4568?"

"Naw, you got the wrong number. Dis ain't nottin' like dat."

Then she calls up again:

"Is this Dr. Wogglebug? Is this Syntax 4568?"

"No, madam, you have the wrong number. This is"———

"Oh, never mind who it is"—

And finally she gets Dr. Wogglebug.

"I would like an engagement, doctor," she says.

"Which toe, madam?"

"The second toe of the left foot."

"One moment please," says Dr. Wogglebug. Then to his secretary: "Look up the second-toe, left-foot engagements, please, Miss Pothook."

"Ah, madam," he returns to the phone. "The very earliest date our second-toe, left-foot specialist can give you is the end of Lent at 4 p. m. Oh, very well, we'll expect you then."

WHEN you go to a surgeon to see about falling arches, he sends you first to a dandruff expert, then to a specialist in nose-glasses and then to a nerve specialist, who takes an X-ray picture of your diaphragm with the assistance of an X-ray specialist and a diaphragm expert. By the time you get through with all the preliminary specialists you forget what you started with and come out cured of a different ailment than the one you first complained of.

Organization reached the business offices some time ago, but only recently reached the height of the ridiculous. Go into a big office and try to have an interview with Hiram Q. Hensky, of the Eureka Paper Pie Crust Company, Inc. The secretary will receive you kindly and try to make an engagement for you with the aid of the card index and filing clerk.

"Miss Jones, please look up an open engagement of seven minutes for this gentleman. Today at 9 minutes after 3? Impossible. You know Mr. Hensky has his appendix removed at that hour—from 3 to 4—and he will not be able to see anyone on business before 4 o'clock. Look up 'Appendicitis' in the index, Miss Jones. Am I not right?"

"I do not find anything listed for this week under 'Appendicitis.' Perhaps you refer to the appointment for falling hair?"

"Nothing of the sort. I distinctly remember telling you to enter one hour for appendicitis operation on your index for today at 9 minutes after 3. Another lapse of this kind, Miss Jones, and we will have to have a new filing clerk."

"So you have to wait until after the operation to see Mr. Hensky."

SPECIALIZATION is growing by leaps and bounds. There are burglars now who steal only certain things—contracts and certain sort of bonds. A burglar who will steal 7 per cent railroad bonds will pass by a million dollars' worth of 6½ per cent gas bonds and never touch them.

Diamond specialists among the burglars will not touch a pile of pearls 10 feet hight. One burglar specializes in square emeralds and another in Kohinoor diamonds. There being only one of the latter, this specialist is limited in his practice.

Thinking of the Cost

"There ought to be only one head to every family," exclaimed a speaker.

"That's true," replied a worried-looking man in the audience.

"You agree with me, sir?" said the speaker.

"I do," replied the man, "I've just paid for hats for nine daughters."

Honeymoon Salad

The newly-married couple stopped for lunch at a hotel where the manager was rather assiduous in his attentions. For the tenth time he sailed up.

"And what can I do for you now, sir?"

"Some honeymoon salad, please."

"You have me there, sir," replied the manager. "May I ask what it consists of?"

"Just lettuce alone."

Familiar Treatment

Outside the storm raged. The thunder rolled and lightning flashed almost continuously.

Presently a bolt struck Mr. Jones and knocked him out of bed. He rose, yawned, rubbed his eyes, and said:

"All right, dear, I'll get up."

One to Keep

Singer (wearily): "That long song that I sang left me quite exhausted."

Bored Listener: "It ought never to have left you at all."

Supplied

First Married Man: "Allow me to present my wife to you."

Second Same: "Many thanks, but I have one."

Naval Reserve Oil Goes In British Trust Grab

The Federal government of the United States is revealed as a victim of the British plan to control the oil market of the world. Rear Admiral H. H. Rousseau, in charge of the Navy oil office, made the disclosure to the Naval Committee of the House in Washington.

He charged that:

1—Oil from a United States Naval Reserve was being sold to British-controlled interests.

2—The greater proportion of oil used in Europe comes from the United States.

3—A very large part of the total oil production of the United States is sold abroad.

He said oil from United States Oil Reserve No. 2, in California, is being sold to British interests through an American company holding a lease there.

Admiral Rousseau asserted the American producing company, operating on the Naval Reserve under lease, is disposing of a portion of its product to the Shell Company, British-controlled, and that it is being delivered through the pipes of the Union Oil Company of California.

The purpose of Admiral Rousseau's testimony was to reveal the need for supporting the Navy's recommendation for the passage of legislation that would permit the government to conserve its oil reserves.

He was questioned by Representative Britten, of Illinois, relative to the reported purpose of British oil companies to so diminish the output of American oil sources that it eventually would be able to control the world market.

Two-thirds of the oil used in Europe, he said, went from America. Each year 141,000,000 barrels of the total annual production of 903,000,000 barrels of American oil goes abroad, according to Admiral Rousseau.

He also told Representative Britten the latter's suggestion that America raise the price of oil to Great Britain, just as the latter raised the price of rubber bought in America, was a policy some of the American oil companies would like to follow.

It is revealed that British oil interests are playing a deep game—a waiting game. Like the card player who trails along and waits until he gets a "killing" hand, the oil kings of Europe are patient—but active.

Already controlling the larger—by far the larger—part of the oil fields of the world, they permit America to sell two-thirds of the oil used in Europe. Their own sources of supply can await the day when American oil, now produced at a wasteful rate, shall be exhausted.

Permit America to sell two-thirds of the oil used in Europe!—they don't permit us to—THEY WANT US TO!

When we not only are no longer able to care for our own great needs for oil—let alone the needs of two-thirds of Europe—then will the British-Dutch control of the great oil fields of the world outside of the United States be felt here.

IT MAY BE THAT WE SHALL BE LUCKY IF WE EVEN HAVE ENOUGH FOR USE IN OUR NAVY.

Americans are said to be the most wasteful people in the world. And we are wasting our greatest natural resource and our greatest strength in war while Europe sits and waits—waits with great patience.

Improvement of Housing In Line With Progress

Organization of a permanent housing association is to result from a meeting of representatives of civic, commercial, charitable and welfare organizations and industrial plants. It is a good move. It is a step intended to make Pittsburgh a better place in which to live.

A representative of the department of sociology of the University of Pittsburgh reported that the housing situation here has not improved in 20 years. While undesirable houses are less in number, those remaining are occupied by more persons. That certainly is not in keeping with the progress Pittsburgh has made in other directions.

Better housing is a matter that has occupied the attention of progressive communities everywhere. Only recently an architectural magazine contained an article about a southern town that moved as a whole to a new site. Its people constructed a model village and then deserted their former residences and business places to occupy the new ones.

Of course such a thing is not possible everywhere, but even large cities have made great improvement in housing in recent years by proceeding according to an ideal plan. We can hope for something of that kind from the movement now under way for a permanent housing association.

Any project for betterment will have the support of The Sun-Telegraph, which, among other things, stands for "A better, cleaner, more beautiful city."

Our Need of Submarines

Sympathy for the victims of the S-4 tragedy should not make Congressmen lose their good sense about submarines, indispensable weapon of American defense.

We are behind other nations in big submarines able to accompany the fleet or destroy approaching enemy warships far from our shores.

Yet the House authorized not one new submarine in the $274,000,000 Navy bill that it adopted last week.

One reason is that Congressmen were bombarded with protests by well-meaning but ill-informed sentimentalists against the use of submarines.

In the interests of the safety of the American people we need more big submarines.

In the interests of safety of submarine crews we need every protective device and precaution that engineering skill can devise, and salvage ships to rescue victims of such peacetime accidents as are inevitable.

In Italy They Mean It

27 Years Are 27 Years

In his Sicilian bandit and Mafia abolishing campaign, Mussolini has sent 67 persons to prison, for terms running from 2 to 27 years.

In Italy, a man sentenced for 27 years, stays in prison 27 years, unless he dies.

In glorious crime-ridden America a little lady admits that she killed her husband, having "lost her taste for him." But she is not downhearted. "I shall be eligible for parole in 10 years, and almost anything can happen before then. So I have something to look forward to."

Another husband has also something to look forward to.

FATHER PITT

Garrett P. Serviss Says:

If Sirius Should Catch Us

"What would be the consequences to the earth were Sirius in the sun's place? What speed would the earth require to keep in distance?—H. W. G."

THE speed would not be so great as you apparently suppose. The mass of Sirius is 2.56 times that of the sun. The speed, if the distance were unchanged, would vary as the square root of the mass. The square root of 2.56 is 1.6, making the earth's orbital velocity 29.6 miles, if it revolved as close around Sirius as it does around the sun. This is nearly the same as the mean orbital velocity of the planet Mercury.

I know no reason to suppose that a greater velocity of the earth in its orbit would have any special effect upon the conditions of life on the earth, other than such as might result from the shortening of the seasons. But there is a more serious consideration affecting the relations between the earth and Sirius, supposing them to be as near to one another as are the earth and the sun.

Sirius, although only about two and a half times as massive as the sun, is as much as thirty times greater than the sun in radiative power. Therefore the amount of heat poured upon the earth by Sirius, in the case supposed, would be thirty times the amount supplied by the sun; or, a given unit of area on the earth would be heated thirty times more intensely by Sirius than it is heated by the sun.

When you recall what midsummer temperatures are, with the sun to supply the heat, you will have a vivid notion of what they would be with Sirius substituted in the place of the sun. All life would be destroyed at once. The heavens would blaze with the fierceness of an electric furnace. In order that the face of the earth should retain its present conditions of temperature, it would have to revolve around Sirius at a distance of about 500,000,000 miles, which is considerably greater than the distance of Jupiter from the sun.

The reason why the mass, and consequently the gravitation, of Sirius are proportionally so much less than its radiative intensity is because its substance is hotter and more expanded than that of the sun. Sirius belongs to the spectral class of the white stars, or the "A" stars, and the sun to the class of the yellow stars, or the "G" stars. The absolute temperature of Sirius is reckoned at 11,000 degrees Centigrade (say 19,000 degrees Fahrenheit) and that of the sun is reckoned at 6,000 degrees Centigrade. But Sirius is much less dense than the sun, and its surface brightness is much greater. The stars of slight density are greatly expanded and very brilliant.

There is a remarkable mystery connected with Sirius in its possession of a companion linked with it to form a "gravitational couple," but shining with ten thousand times less light, though it is one-third as massive as Sirius. At the same time it has a diameter of only 13,000 miles—about 50 per cent greater than the earth—so that its calculated density comes out at an almost incredible figure, viz. fifty thousand times the density of water!

A cubic inch of this strange star, it is estimated, would WEIGH A TON.

This amazing star is 1,800,000,000 miles from Sirius, which to be sure is its master, but even a giant sun might feel a little nervous over intimate companionship with such a monster—sub-dwarf in size but super-Brobdingnagian in power.

Speculatively it is affirmed that the probable cause of the extraordinary state of the companion of Sirius is its intense internal heat which strips the very atoms of their shells of electrons and reduces them to such minuteness of dimension that millions are packed together in space that ordinarily would contain perhaps only hundreds.

Show Appreciation

A WORD to the employer:

Perhaps you have a man in your establishment who has given years of faithful service to your concern.

He has reached the point where he can only do certain unimportant duties.

But his financial condition may be such that he needs every penny that he can procure.

He still has pride and a desire to work and to be worth what he is paid for his services.

Don't discharge him.

He hasn't much left in life to interest him.

Losing his job would be the last straw.

It will not take much from your balance sheet to retain this man.

The fact that he has been with you so long indicates you got the best he had in him for service.

Now is the time to show your appreciation.

Goals

THE goals men seek are not too lightly won,
These dream-sweet, cherished things;
One would have fame for lengthy labors done;
Another, toil's keen stings.

One asks for gold and one seeks love alone,
Another prays for peace;
But each, whatever dream his soul has known,
Finds in his need release.

To each is given through his heart's desire
One blessing, for he gains
A glimmer of the spirit's deathless fire,
The urge that stills all pains.

Tales that are Told

Misunderstood

HE WAS a stranger to the golf club, and having paid his half-crown green fee, was looking round for someone to play with.

Presently a portly person in plus-fours appeared on the scene and expressed himself only too willing to oblige.

"You're not a member, are you?" he asked as they came to the first tee.

"No," replied the stranger; "I was just passing through and thought I'd like a game."

"Well," continued the man in plus-fours, "I am a four man. What are you?"

"Me?" echoed the other. "I'm a straw 'at maker."—London Answers.

Did It?

LITTLE LAURENCE came home from school looking very much the worse for wear.

There were a number of scratches all over his face, and his clothes were badly torn in many places.

With horror in her eyes, his mother asked the darling of her heart what had happened to him.

"Haven't I told you not to play with that Brown boy?" she said, after hearing his tale.

"Huh!" snorted little Laurence in great disgust, surveying his outward appearance. "Does it look as though I'd been playing with anybody?"

A Clock's Impediment

POSSIBLY Percy Perkins had not ascended the stairs with his customary caution, but whether he had or not, he had awakened Mrs. Perkins.

"What's the time, Percy?" was her first question.

"Eh?" said her spouse, and then, remembering himself quickly: "Oh, it's about—er—one o'clock," he continued smoothly.

At that moment the grandfather clock in the hall struck three times in succession.

"Goodness!" he exclaimed. "How that clock stutters! I always knew there was something wrong with it."

Useless

BERNARD, like most other small boys of his age, generally found himself in trouble of some kind. Finding that words had but little effect upon his offspring, the father resorted to sterner measures.

A neighbor, watching him chastise the boy, noticed with admiration that Bernard gave no outward indication of the pain he was suffering.

"Don't you ever cry when you're beaten, Bernard?" he asked.

"What's the use?" retorted the small boy. "The old man's deaf!"

Couldn't Be Helped

THE missus of the house was very angry with her maidservant.

"Look here, Lucy," she cried, "I can't allow you to send so many blouses to the laundry. Seven in one week is positively disgraceful!"

The maid hung her head in shame, but the outraged housewife was not to be appeased.

"Do you realise," she continued—"do you realise, Lucy, that my own daughter doesn't send as many to the wash in a month?"

"Perhaps she doesn't," said Lucy, now thoroughly roused, "and perhaps she don't walk out with a sweep!"—London Answers.

Good Rule for Health

MR. SCHWAB, chipper as a boy though sixty-six, gives as a reason for his good health:

"I have just tried to be happy all the time, to smile always and have a funny story or good word for every one I meet."

Not a bad policy. Health makes happiness. But the reverse is also true—happiness makes health.

Take two men of equal age and physical condition. Let one cultivate a cheery spirit while the other becomes a grouch. It won't be long before the grouch has trouble with his organs. The smiler will outlive the growler by a decade.

Exercise a muscle and it will grow. Exercise a spirit of happiness and it will become a second nature. Mr. Schwab's philosophy is sound because it works.

New York Day by Day

by O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, March 29.—Broadway will brook no successors. When a popular idol passes, a substitute is met with a stifled yawn. It has been tried time after time with the same impossible result. Broadway makes its own heroes and heroines and wants no imitations.

Recently they tried to bring another Florence Mills to the world of cabarets, but the unforgettable memory of that wistful, dusky singer would not be downed. Stage partners who have lost their mates team up again and try to carry on with the same futility.

Broadway's loyalty is of the sort that if a performer hits upon an original idea and clicks and someone does it even better the attitude is Moran-and-Mackish. Even if it were good, they wouldn't like it. The answer is personality.

Nobody has been able to imitate personality. It has that indefinable quality that cannot be duplicated. There was a long list of professional dancers who tried to follow the twinkling capers of the Castles. Some were superior dancers.

But Vernon was the first of this light footed guild and the glamour clung. In the same fashion Ziegfeld remains the old master of the musical revue. No player has had so many imitators as Al Jolson. Many of them had better voices, but they could not put that certain something across the footlights like Jolson.

Film producers admit that could they flush out a successor to Valentino, their fortune would be made. All Latin-American countries have been combed for a replica. They have been carefully groomed, but the public does not forget. They still want Rudy.

Indeed these efforts seem merely to create a keener longing for the original. In a way it is a heartening attitude for the man or woman who creates and wins plaudits. They need have no fear someone will come along and take their place, on Broadway at least.

An advertising agency specializing in slogans has turned out one which they hope will reduce the number of suicides jumping from windows in skyscrapers. They are to be placed in hallways and read: "Think things over before doing anything desperate. Nothing is as bad as it seems."

The most depressing and certainly the meanest looking street in the mid-town metropolis, to my notion, is West Fifty-third, which sprawls so gloomily under the elevated, spun overhead. There are decaying brown fronts with smudgy, uncurtained windows and shadowy halls. At almost every stoop is a piled-high rubbish can. The atmosphere is reflected by the few people you see, who seem sullen and suspicious. With flashy Broadway at its door, it seems hundreds of miles away. Many of the dingy houses rent rooms, and usually to men who are so worn out with hard work they can sleep through the clatter and bang. Despite its ugliness and squalor, police say it has been the scene of comparatively few crimes.

In one of the West Fifty-third street homes recently was found an old rag picker who occupied a cellar. The only illumination seen by neighbors was the feeble flicker of a candle now and then. One morning he was found lifeless and it was discovered he devoted his life to stray cats he picked up here and there. There were dozens of them, two blind and one with three legs. His scant earnings were used to buy them milk, liver, bread and other food. They were carried away to the headquarters of a friendly animal society in two push-cart loads.

A London playwright says feminine beauty in America consists of rouge and powder. Well, those beat some other ingredients. For instance—buck-teeth and adenoids.

Here's How

By DR. FRANK CRANE

After all, the main difference between virtue and vice is a question of how much and how little.

Every force in the world and every instinct says to us, "Here's how," and the wise man is the man who knows where to stop.

The motto of Socrates was, "Nothing too much."

A witty Frenchman described vices as but our virtues carried to excess.

The ravages of social disorder, the foul diseases and the blasted lives caused by misdirected affection, are the result of human passion carried to excess. That passion, properly restricted and controlled gives us some of the most beautiful phases of life.

Anger is good up to a certain point, and it is a poor man who will not resent wrongdoing; yet if carried beyond its proper bourne, and becomes vengeance, anger becomes a vice.

There are many medicines, such as strychnine, which administered in proper doses are a stimulant and a tonic, but in too great doses can produce death.

So there is hardly any emotion of which the human breast is capable that cannot become a devastating plague unless it is properly controlled.

The first duty of mankind, therefore, is to learn self-control. He should be able to say when.

Maternal affection is a beautiful and wholesome thing, but often eventuates in harm when it becomes an unreasoning obsession.

We are told in a list of the virtues of the perfect man that first comes Love, but last comes Temperance.

Temperance is the supreme law of heaven. It is that final conquest that comes as the result of self discipline.

It is that which adorns and beautifies the whole man and lends color and beauty to every virtue.

Temperance means skill and adeptness in self control. There is no complete character without it.

The child, therefore, should not only be taught to shun certain things, but to make wise choices, for of these choices is built up the sum of life.

No one can take the place in you of your own judgment and it is essential that that judgment be trained to act promptly and accurately.

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD.

ONE of the reasons Nora Bayes didn't want her friends to attend her funeral was that she couldn't bear to make anyone unhappy. Up to her last day she tried to bring smiles to those about her, and it's little wonder someone wrote of her death—"I don't know where she is now, but I know that whoever is with her is having a swell time."

Calling the hogs is a new occupation for women and they are now having a contest to see who calls them best. The contestants are meeting in Gerber, Tehama county. There are 25 contestants. These women have voices with "hog appeal, originality, musical quality, variety and carrying power," and the hogs will come when they say the word, which is "Oinck."

Publishers say that David Copperfield is still one of the best sellers and the majority of those who buy it are women.

Edna Leedom, musical comedy star, married $8,000,000 and kept it a secret three weeks. That must have been a terrible strain! Women are improving.

Any number of women are shaving off their eye brows and drawing new ones nearer to their heart's desire. This saves labor, pain and time. Plucking them hurts a little and they get such foxy eye brows this new way. But they will have to "hang their clothes on a hickory limb and not go near the water."

Mae Murray is suing Jack Donovan, another picture star, for selling her a $25,000 house full of new furniture as a $50,000 house full of antiques. Mae says she bought it under the influence of pretty shaded lights and organ music. There's a big idea for real estate salesmen.

The butler-chauffeur now tells the story that Mr. Allen gave "Peaches" a diamond bracelet when they were having dinner in the Allen home, and "Peaches" jumped up in girlish glee and kissed him. And that Mr. Allen, with a furtive look toward the service pantry door, motioned her to her chair with this admonition: "Take it easy, kid."

But "Peaches" says she already has $250,000 worth of bigger and better bracelets. She must take them easy!

Have you noticed that when a man gets sued for divorce and another woman is named, he fumbles a little and then complains about his wife's peke dogs? It must be that women who lead dogs lives have an accentuated sympathy for the poor things.

Words of the Wise

No company is far preferable to bad, because we are more apt to catch the vices of others than virtues, as disease is far more contagious than health.—Colton.

As the soil, however rich it may be, cannot be productive without culture, so the mind, without cultivation, can never produce good fruit.—Seneca.

Banish all compliments but single truth
From every tongue and every shepherd's heart.
Let them use still persuading, but no art.
—Beaumont and Fletcher.

No man was ever so much deceived by another as by himself.—Greville.
